Premier Is Ready to Fight One More Election Campaign But Gives No Hint of Date

By FRANK FLAHERTY

OTTAWA, Aug. 8.—(CP)—In his 70th year Prime Minister Mackenzie King last night announced he is ready to fight one more election campaign and put the best he has into it.

Guns Are Used

Many Injured In Montreal Election Riots

MONTREAL, Aug. 8.—(CP)—A second riot, in which at least two persons were shot, broke out in Montreal's east end late this afternoon, two blocks from an earlier fracas in which possibly 15 persons received gunshot wounds or other serious injuries.

The second clash, believed to be between the same rival gangs who staged the first, was close to the Union Nationale headquarters for Montreal St. James Division in provincial election voting today.

Three went to hospitals after the 40-minute fracas in front of the Liberal headquarters for Montreal St. James riding, but police said they believed other members of the gangs were carried away by their friends after they had been injured.

Hundreds of persons were involved in the clash, which Liberal spokesmen said started when a gang attempted to smash their divisional headquarters. An undetermined number of persons suffered minor cuts and bruises.

Police riot squads converged on the trouble spot, at the corner of St. Catherine street and De Bu-

Quebec Election Voting Is Heavy

MONTREAL, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Voting was heavy in most sections of the province as residents of Quebec cast their ballots in provincial general elections today.

The vote was heavier than had been anticipated in Montreal, where a tramways strike was thought likely to affect turnout at the polls. The voting was described as normal in the eastern part of the city, and heavy in the west.

Polling was exceptionally heavy in Quebec city, where Justice Minister St. Laurent and Air Minister Power arrived from Ottawa to cast their ballots in Quebec West. Voting was moderate to heavy in other urban centres.

Franz Von Papen Returns to Reich

LONDON, Aug. 8.—(CP)—The Nazi-controlled Paris radio said today that Franz Von Papen, German ambassador who left Turkey when that country broke relations with Germany, had arrived in Berlin. Earlier in the day he had been reported in Bucharest.

Joining Allies

PARAMARIBO, Surinam, Aug. 8.—(CP)—A detachment of several hundred Surinam volunteers has left for Australia to join Allied forces in the fight to free the Netherlands East Indies from Japanese oppression, it was disclosed today.

In ever loving memory of the officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the 4th Battalion (Edmonton Regiment) who were killed in action, or died of wounds received, before Amiens, in France, 8th of August, 1918.

More than 300 persons gathered in the main dining room of the Macdonald hotel Monday night to observe the 25th anniversary of the leadership of The Right Honorable William Lyon Mackenzie King. Honorable W. A. Buchanan, Liberal member of the Canadian senate from Lethbridge, delivered the main address following a banquet. H. H. Parlee, K.C., of Edmonton, was another speaker. Standing in the above picture is Neil D. Maclean, K.C., past president of the Edmonton Provincial Liberal Association, chairman of the gathering. Mr. Maclean is introducing Senator Buchanan, seated at the chairman's right. At the left is Mrs. Fry, wife of Mayor John W. Fry. Seated at Mr. Maclean's left is Miss Mary Scullion, president of the Twentieth Century Club of Edmonton, a women's Liberal club, which sponsored the celebration. Miss Scullion proposed the toast to Mr. King. At the extreme right is Mayor John W. Fry. Many out-of-town Liberals were present.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—More than 1,250 Allied heavy bombers from the west and south blasted German targets in France and Hungary today as a fleet of Flying Fortresses landed in Italy after bombing enemy installations in northern and southern Poland and Romania on a 1,600 mile England-to-Russia-to-Italy shuttle raid.

More than 1,000 of the American heavies swung out from Britain today to smash at enemy ground positions in advance of the attacking Canadian and United Kingdom armies below Caen and German airfields and robot bomb bases in northern France.

Another 250 four engine raiders from Italy pounded the Sardinia airfield south of Vienna before dawn today, while the third fleet, finishing the last lap of the shuttle run from Russian, bombed Romanian airbases at Buzau and Zilistea, 40 miles northeast of the Ploesti oil fields.

Mark Anniversary

Premier King Paid Tribute For Outstanding Leadership Of Liberals for 25 Years

Nothing has happened in the last four years to make a Liberal ashamed of his party or its achievements under the inspiring leadership of Prime Minister King. Hon. W. A. Buchanan, Liberal senator from Lethbridge, told an enthusiastic gathering of approximately 300 at a banquet celebrating the 25th anniversary of the party leadership by the Right Honorable W. L. Mackenzie King in the main dining hall of the Macdonald hotel, Monday evening.

The banquet, followed by a dance, was under the auspices of the Twentieth Century Women's Liberal Club of Edmonton.

Senator Buchanan, who well remembers Canada under the leadership of the great Sir John A. Macdonald and the equally famed Sir Wilfrid Laurier delivered the main address.

Neil D. Maclean, K.C., past president of the Edmonton Provincial Liberal Association, was chairman of the evening.

Miss Mary Scullion, president of the Twentieth Century Women's Liberal Club of Edmonton, served as co-chairman and proposed the toast to the Right Honorable Mackenzie King.

Thomas L. Cross, president of the Edmonton Provincial Liberal Association, proposed the toast to "The King."

PLACE IN HISTORY

The place of Prime Minister King in history is assured no matter what the future of Mr. King or the Liberal party may be, the senator declared, but "if the people of Canada are wise in the next few months

Quebec Minister Will Defy Board

QUEBEC, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Provincial Labor Minister Wilfrid Hamel announced last night he had told Quebec taxi drivers to start charging a 35-cent starting rate, refusal of which by the Prices Board has caused a week-long strike on the part of 300 taxi operators.

The drivers started back to work soon after the labor minister said that "the Province of Quebec with its own boundaries is master, and I will see that some people in Ottawa understand that."

"I have told the strikers to charge 35 cents for their initial starting rate, and to return to work immediately," the minister said. "I will see that my decision is approved by the Wartime Prices Board."

The Prices Board had refused to grant demands of the strikers for a 10-cent increase in the starting rate which before the strike was 25 cents. The Board instead called for a return to work, at a 30-cent rate and submission of balance sheets within a month, after which a definite decision on the starting rate would be made.

Soldier Vote Might Delay Count in City

Possibility that Monday's soldier voting in various military camps through the province may hold up ballot counting in Edmonton and Calgary was voiced by government election officers on Tuesday. At that time, 27 out of 44 ballot boxes used in the military poll had been returned to Edmonton.

In the two cities, the quota necessary to elect a candidate cannot be established until the total number of valid votes is known. The quota is found by dividing this total by six and adding one to the result. Any candidate polling more than the quota is declared elected on first count.

Edmonton and Calgary soldiers voting Monday used city ballots. These must be received by local and Calgary returning officers before the electoral quota can be arrived at as described above.

The ballots already received were from nearby military stations. Still to come are those from Southern Alberta points, the Grande Prairie country, and large camps in the east-central part of the province.

Officials would not rule out the possibility of receiving all soldier votes in time for Tuesday counting. However, they were skeptical of predictions that the count in cities would be completed Wednesday morning.

Londoners Have Pineapples, But Not Any Bargain

LONDON, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Londoners had pineapples today for the August bank holiday—at a cost of from 16 to 22 pence each. Watermelons were 57 pence apiece, grapes about 35 pence a pound and peaches 80 pence to 110 pence apiece.

Field Marshal, Seven Other High Nazi Officers Executed

LONDON, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Field Marshal Erwin Von Witzleben and seven other German army officers were hanged today, Berlin announced, after a trial in which they confessed plotting to kill Hitler and surrender Germany to the Allies.

This brought to 16 the announced deaths of alleged conspirators in the Berlin-proclaimed plot which culminated in the July 20 bomb explosion at a Hitler headquarters.

Today's executions took place two hours after conclusion of the trial of von Witzleben and the seven others, all of whom had been

Allies Little More Than 100 Miles Outside of Paris

LONDON, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Allied troops advancing in two powerful surges at the wings of a 130-mile front drove today to little more than 100 miles from Paris, and the Germans desperately rushed in forces from southern France.

Canadian troops storming over the Orne in a four-mile advance into the main enemy line south of Caen punched through a once-impregnable anti-tank screen to seize strong-point villages by the dozen. Americans on the southern flank struck towards Le Mans and advance elements were reported already in that city only 110 miles from Paris.

Canadian and British assault columns of the 1st Canadian army alarmed at the Nazi defence line astride the vital highway to Falaise in the night attack, spearheading their assault with tanks and infantry in specially armor-plated carriers, while Bofors light ack-ack guns fired tracers in dead straight lines down each side of the highway, setting a path of fire to guide the attacking columns.

Score Spectacular Successes

Ross Munro, Canadian Press war correspondent, said the leading armored assault columns, with the infantry in their carriers specially modified for this operation, had spectacular success, forward elements reaching objectives four miles from the starting line within the first hour of attack.

The towns of St. Aignan, 8½ miles southeast of Caen, Gargelles, five miles southeast and Rocquencourt, six miles south, all fell to the crushing 1st Canadian Army columns today, headquarters said.

Rocquencourt fell to Ontario infantry and Quebec tanks leading the first assault wave. Tilly La Campagne, five miles south of Caen, which had been bypassed by these troops, came under assault of armored follow-up columns and was captured later in the day.

PLANES BATTER NAZIS

As the drive went forward 600 U.S. heavy bombers battered the Germans' stout Caen hinge which had been loosened last night by an unprecedented 1,000-plane R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. bombardment.

The exact sector where the Allies were little more than 100 miles from Paris was not specified.

Losing Ground

LONDON, Aug. 8.—More than 20,000 Polish troops, clung to strategic points in burning Warsaw today as heavy German counter attacks and a continuous aerial bombardment indicated they must soon be directly aided by the Russians or face defeat.

A communique from the headquarters of "General Bor" in the Polish capital indicated the battle had now entered the defensive stage with the Poles attempting to maintain control of the vital areas where they can block German supplies and cut communications.

The communique said German bombers were dropping tons of explosives and incendiaries in thrice-daily raids over the city and that great fires were raging as the Germans "are burning the city from the ground and from the air."

8,000 Ballots

One-Eighth Vote Is Polled Here Up Until 2 P.M.

Approximately one-eighth of Edmonton's 83,000 voters had cast ballots by 2 p.m. Tuesday, it was revealed in a survey of city polling stations early this afternoon. It is expected that the voting both in the city and rural areas will be heavy before polls close.

Many polls experienced a noon-time rush, but others in residential areas had a larger number of voters come in early in the morning. Downtown polls reported anywhere from 50 to 125 voters in by 2 p.m., while residential districts reported an average of 50 persons coming in.

Heavy voting is expected in the early evening, when working men and others employed in downtown offices will be free to ballot.

H. H. Crawford, city returning officer, said at noon on Tuesday "everything was running smoothly in the city voting."

While there had been many phone calls asking for directions as to where to vote, no disturbances or mix-ups had been reported from any of the city polls.

Polls in Edmonton and suburban centres were open between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m., while in rural districts, Continued on Page 2, Col. 3

but to have refrained from letting them go because Heinrich Himmler, Gestapo chief, was not with Hitler—"he was to be finished at the same time."

BECK TOOK OWN LIFE

Three former generals and four lesser officers were tried with von Witzleben, who was quoted as testifying that he and Col. Gen. Ludwig Beck were to have headed the military under the coup.

Beck, former chief of the German general staff, committed suicide, Berlin said, after frustration of the conspiracy. Berlin announced earlier the death of seven other accused officers—four by execution July 26 and three more by suicide.

Berlin said Maj. Gen. Staff, one of those on trial, told the Himmler-ruled people's court he knew the details of still another abandoned plot to kill Hitler. This calls for the placing of time bombs in the backs of three private soldiers—without their knowledge—and setting the bombs to explode when they appeared before the fuhrer for a demonstration of new equipment.

PLANNED PEACE

"The officers were accused of participation in the assassination attempt 'in order to stir up revolt in Germany, to assume command of the Wehrmacht, to seize state authority and to conclude a dishonorable peace.'"

The court consisted of an infantry general, a Berlin business man, a people's councillor and a municipal councillor.

On trial with Witzleben and Staff were former Maj. Gen. Erich Hoepner, former Lt. Col. Bernhard, former Capt. Friedrich Karl Klausegger, former Lt. von Hagen and former Lt. Count Yorck von Wartenburg.

Staff's answers implicated his immediate senior, former Artillery General Wagner (reported by Berlin to have committed suicide after the plot's failure). When Staff termed Wagner an "old comrade," the court president snapped that it would be better to call him an "old criminal."

Witzleben frankly admitted in court he had been "involved in this matter."

One Stabbed Dead In Montreal Fight

MONTREAL, Aug. 8.—(CP)—One person was stabbed to death and another was taken to hospital with critical wounds today, following an attack by a knife-wielding assailant in a restaurant at the busy St. Catherine-Bligny streets intersection.

Shea Taft, 50, was fatally wounded in the stabbing, and police said he had been stabbed 10 times. His sister, Mrs. Sam Miedemowski, was stabbed five times and medical authorities held out little hope for her recovery.

Police said the two had been attacked with an eight-inch broad knife, and that Sam Miedemowski, owner of the restaurant and husband of the woman, had later given himself up at police district headquarters a few blocks away.

One-Eighth Vote Is Polled Here Up Until 2 P.M.

voting is being done between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m.

A total of 184 candidates, twenty of them in Edmonton, are seeking election to the Legislature's 57 seats. Five members will be elected from Edmonton, five from Calgary, and one each from 47 remaining rural constituencies.

In the last Legislature, party standings were: Social Credit, 35; Independent party, 15; Liberal, three; Labor, one; Independent Social Credit, one; CCF, one, and vacant (Calgary), one.

Premier Ernest Manning, a candidate in Edmonton where in the 1940 general election he broke all voting records under the "PR" system with more than 10,000 votes on first count, is leading his party to the polls for the first time since taking over the reins of government.

It is the third time the Social Credit party has entered the election lists in the province.

Alberta men and women in the armed services who are stationed in the province marked ballots yesterday in special arrangements made by the government.

Ballots so marked will be forwarded to the servicemen's home constituencies, to be counted in official returns made on Friday, Aug. 18.

By an amendment to the Alberta Election Act passed at the legislature's 1943 session, 19-year-olds in the province will exercise their franchise for the first time in history of the British empire.

Election officials are dubious as to a large increase in voters as a result of voting age reduction, because most men in this category are serving in the armed forces outside of the province.

A further change in the government election set-up will take place this fall, when servicemen and women stationed outside the province will vote to elect three armed service candidates to the legislature. One will be elected from each of the three services, army, navy and air force.

Legislation validating this procedure will be passed at a special session of the assembly, to be held in the early fall. Membership in the house will thus be raised to 60, highest it has been since redistribution in 1930.

Officials have estimated the total vote of Tuesday's ballot to be near 450,000, an increase of 22,700 over the number in 1940.

LARGEST LIST

In Edmonton, a total of 63,000 names were placed on the voters list, largest in the city's history. At advance polling conducted last week, a total of 1,243 ballots were cast, indicating intense interest in the campaign. In Calgary, advance figures were 1,331 ballots marked, compared with 655 in the 1940 general election.

In the 1940 election, 165 candidates contested for seats, compared with 184 in the field this year. In by-elections held since 1940, Social Credit has won three, at Vegreville, Camrose, and Red Deer, while the CCF party won in Edmonton in 1942.

In this election, there are eleven women seeking return to the House, where only one woman, Mrs. C. R. Wood, sat until dissolution. Mrs. Wood was Social Credit M.L.A. for Stony Plain, and is seeking re-election from that riding.

Party leaders beside Premier Manning are James Walker, Warner, Independent; Elmer E. Roper, Edmonton, CCF, and James A. MacPherson, Edmonton, Labor-Progressive.

While early returns Tuesday will show trend of the election, complete results are not expected for two days at least. In rural ridings, second counts will be needed when any one candidate does not obtain a clear majority over the total of all other candidates' votes. In the multiple-member ridings of Edmonton and Calgary, as many as 20 counts may be needed to declare five members elected.

Counting in the two cities cannot begin until soldier ballots cast Monday are in the hands of returning officers. A first count can be made, but electoral quotas cannot be established until the number of soldier and civilian ballots is known.

lion street, after several automobiles were overturned on lawns and windows smashed.

STORM HEADQUARTERS

The trouble broke out in front of the Liberal headquarters for Montreal St. James riding, and Liberal organizers claimed it started when gangs of men from 14 automobiles tried to storm the headquarters.

Bystanders said that as soon as the carloads of men drew up at the street corner, another gang descended from a nearby house and battled with the attackers in a melee which lasted almost 40 minutes before police reserves dispersed the fighters.

At one time during the fight police received permission from Chief Fernand Dufresne to use tear gas to storm the house in which some of the gangs were said to have holed up. However, the gas was not used and those taking part in the fray made their escape.

WORST IN 10 YEARS

It was believed the riot was a continuation of a smaller outbreak in the east end earlier today when one man was stabbed.

Detectives described the outbreak as the worst brawl in 10 years in Montreal. Forty minutes after it started the original contestants seemed to have disappeared and police were left straightening out a traffic tangle and telling spectators to move on.

A newspaper cameraman who attempted to take a picture at the height of the battle was set upon. He suffered head injuries after being struck with a club, and his camera was smashed.

Crops in South Damaged by Hail

CALGARY, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Serious damage to Alberta crops over a fairly wide area is reported as a result of a double-barrelled hailstorm that hit Calgary with a two-minute interval between its two bursts Sunday evening and later was followed by a drenching downpour.

Although an official estimate of the damage will not be available for at least a week, officials of the Alberta Hail Insurance Board report there will probably be an average loss of 50 per cent. of crops in the area covered by the storm.

The storm started west and north of Calgary, sweeping through the entire Simon's Valley district, eastward across the city and cutting a swath that took in Langdon, Milo and Gleichen. Some of the same territory already had suffered heavy hail damage in the violent wind and hail storm of July 29.

Reports from Rimsey say that hail damaged crops from ten to 100 per cent from Rimsey west eight miles in a strip two miles wide. Another part of the storm hit Priddy, indicating a fairly wide hail area.

Only 2 German Divisions Drawn From East Coast

1,250 Bombers Raid Continent From 3 Sides

During the shattering aerial assault to blast a way for the advancing Canadian and United Kingdom troops the U.S. fliers dropped more than 20,000 100-pound fragmentation bombs on German troops who were still dazed from the record-breaking 6,000-ton RAF and RCAF attack only 13 hours earlier.

The new assault came as it was disclosed that other U.S. heavy bombers operating from bases in Russia smashed the German synthetic oil refinery at Trexnia, 20 miles west of Cracow.

The daylight raiders took up the campaign after Allied aerial forces hammered the Germans through the night from Italy and Britain.

HIT AUSTRIAN BASE

At the same time, up to 250 RAF and RCAF heavy and medium bombers, flying from Italian bases, raided the Scombach airfield south of Vienna starting fires in hangars, buildings and grounded aircraft.

British-based RAF Mosquitos also ranged over railroads between Dijon and Paris during the night to shoot up 22 trains and explode ammunition dumps.

American fighters patrolled roads south and east of Paris and attacked hundreds of Nazi trains and trucks, while Ninth Air Force fighters concentrated on enemy transport lines in the "immediate battle zone. Between them, the two forces destroyed or damaged 131 locomotives, 582 railway cars, and 125 motor vehicles, including staff cars, trucks and ammunition cars.

MOST ACTIVE DAY

The night attacks followed a most active day in which Allied air forces based in Britain and Normandy flew approximately 4,000 offensive sorties. The Allied pilots encountered only a few flights of German aircraft, most of which attempted to avoid combat, although 20 were shot down during the day. A total of 22 Allied planes were lost.

Allied headquarters at Rome disclosed that Flying Fortresses, Liberators and fighters shot down 29 German planes during the raid yesterday on the synthetic oil plant at Blechhammer, at a loss of 15 heavy bombers and one fighter.

Empire Air Route Over Pacific Urged

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, Aug. 8.—(CP)—New Zealand's desire for a British Commonwealth air route across the Pacific, possibly owned and operated jointly by New Zealand, Australia, Canada and Britain was voiced in parliament yesterday by Prime Minister Peter Fraser.

"While we do not want to enter into antagonism with our friends," he said, "I have represented to the authorities in Washington that we want to establish a British air route to Canada with landing rights at Honolulu in return for the granting of facilities for an American service operating to New Zealand."

Mr. Fraser said he believed that reciprocal rights with the United States for establishment of an air line across the Pacific to Panama could be considered, but it was not of such immediate importance or urgency as the route to Britain via Canada.

OTTAWA, Aug. 8.—(CP)—The project of a British Commonwealth airline in the Pacific has received consideration by the Canadian government and the government is believed prepared to participate in it in conjunction with Australia and New Zealand as well as possibly the United Kingdom.

42,000 Japanese Troops Are Killed

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH
KANDY, Ceylon, Aug. 8.—(AP)—An Allied spokesman declared today that 42,000 Japanese had been killed and four of the enemy's nine Burma divisions had been liquidated in their drive into Northeast India and in Lt. Gen. Stilwell's successful campaign in the jungle-jungle Burma mountains.

"They have had the hell knocked out of them," the spokesman said in closing the books on the Japanese incursion into India.

British and Indian troops killed 15,893 Japanese by actual count. Gen. Stilwell's men killed 3,850 in winning the North Burma base of Myitkina, and for all North Burma since December, Stilwell has announced 22,341 Japanese killed and 200 captured.

"To all intents and purposes, we have liquidated four Japanese divisions in Burma," the spokesman said, adding that the dead alone amounted to 42,000 out of the nine divisions totalling 180,000 men. The Japanese used three of their Burma divisions to invade India.

Captured Nazi Says Himmler Assassinated

By ROGER D. GREENE

ON THE BRITISH FRONT IN FRANCE, Aug. 8.—(AP)—A newly-captured German intelligence officer asserted today that Heinrich Himmler, German Gestapo and S.S. chief, has been assassinated and that Reichsmarschal Hermann Goerring was wounded in a new outbreak against the Nazi hierarchy.

(There was no confirmation of this report. The officer's report was based on second-hand information and therefore is subject to reservation. In this connection, the BBC said today a German lieutenant taken prisoner in France related he had given a "pep talk" to his troops and "for want of other good news" had told them that Himmler was dead.)

Nine other captives, all Austrians, declared they could corroborate the assertion of the intelligence officer.

"BEST NEWS"

"We heard that (Marshal Erwin) Rommel was wounded in the head by bomb fragments on the Normandy front, but was recovering," one of the Austrians said. "The best news came Sunday when we heard that Himmler had been killed and that Goerring was wounded in the attack on Himmler."

British officers first heard the story of the alleged assassination from the Austrians. I asked a German intelligence officer, who had been kept apart from the Austrians:

"I suppose Himmler is stronger than Hitler these days?"

"No Himmler is dead," the Nazi intelligence officer asserted. "He was assassinated. I heard it at my headquarters Sunday. All our officers are talking about it."

Three Hungarian Ministers Ousted

LONDON, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The Berlin radio quoted a dispatch from Budapest today as saying that Admiral Nicholas Horthy, Hungarian regent, had dismissed Bela Imredy, minister without portfolio, and two other cabinet members "at their own request."

The others dismissed were identified as Antal Kunder, minister of commerce and transportation, and Andor Jaross, home secretary.

The significance of the development was not immediately apparent. All three, however, were strongly identified with pro-Nazi elements in Hungary and took office last March 23 when a new government was organized under Premier Domek Sztojay to intensify the war effort.

Turks Preparing For Emergency

ANKARA, Aug. 8.—Every man between 16 and 60 and every woman from 20 to 45 was ordered today to stand ready to bear arms in the event of a surprise German parachute attack, coastal landing or frontier invasion within 10 miles of their homes.

The order affecting 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 Turks, was approved by the grand national assembly yesterday in preparation for a German attack in retaliation for Turkey's severing of all relations with the Reich last week.

The law provided summary prison sentences for laggards, defectors and obstructors. Local authorities were ordered to furnish arms to the civilian army.

The assembly also approved a law providing for evacuation of the civilian population of large cities in the event of an emergency. Camps for destitute children were ordered established.

As a precautionary measure against disorder and looting, police in Istanbul began rounding up 4,000 undesirable who will be sent to the interior of the country.

Value of Homes May Be Limited

OTTAWA, Aug. 8.—(CP)—A spokesman for the finance department said yesterday that while there was no limit on the value of a house which can be built under the government's $275,000,000 housing legislation "it may be necessary to provide regulations in this respect."

He said as matters stood now it would be impossible to get a permit to build a $50,000 house anywhere and there were certain other controls that would curb the size of loans at least until after the war. These had to do with priorities and the availability of building materials and manpower.

He also pointed to that part of the legislation which provided 85 per cent loans for a $2,000 investment, 85 per cent for the next $2,000 and only 70 per cent for anything more than $4,000.

Regulations might provide that this sliding scale be tapered off to nothing as the investment reached say $20,000, the spokesman said. He added this was his own opinion and made without authority.

Eighth Army, Nazis Locked In Hard Fight

By JAMES E. ROPER

ROME, Aug. 8.—British Eighth army troops pushing to the southern bank of the Arno river five miles southeast of Florence, encountered strong German positions today and were locked in furious battle.

In the southern suburbs, other British forces prepared for a final assault against the ancient city. While Allied patrols crossed the Arno east and west of Florence, an advance of the impending battle, an estimated 100,000 refugees crowded in the British and German held sections of the city imperturbably carried on a normal routine.

Despite the German shelling of southern Florence, it still appeared the city itself would escape becoming a major battlefield.

DESPERATE DEFENCE

British forces, trying to extend their holdings on the southern bank of the Arno before launching the push aimed at driving the enemy northward to his Gothic line, were held up at a hill known as Point S57. Germans there fought desperately against being driven back against the southern bank of the Arno.

At that point there were no significant changes in the lines, and the balance of the sector stretching from Florence to the Tyrrhenian sea was generally quiet.

Many Newsmen With Canadians

By ROSS MUNRO

WITH THE 1st CANADIAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 8.—(CP)—General Crerar personally briefed more than 100 British, American and Canadian war correspondents for the big Canadian-British attack. The new offensive attracted reporters from the entire Allied front.

They gathered in a barn near Canadian Army headquarters where the Canadian commander gave them the entire plan, and an informative off-the-record background talk.

There was almost a D-Day tension in the air prior to the start of the attack by Canadian armor. This night attack employed a variety of novel devices for the most spectacular undertaking since the landings on the coast of France.

Practically everything about the operation was as new and untried in grim battle as is the Canadian Army itself. It was a display of imaginative planning on an elaborate scale.

Says Co-Operation Won't Mean Union Of Canada, States

WINNIPEG, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Ray Atherton, American ambassador to Canada, told a press conference here yesterday co-operation between the United States and Canada would never lead to union.

Maintenance of separate sovereignty and independence by Canada and the United States will contribute to the North American way of life, he said.

Mr. Atherton stressed the co-operation existing between the two countries, and that it would be to their mutual benefit to maintain this close relationship during the post-war period.

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Merrick Drug Stores or any drugist and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your drugist will gladly return your money.

Premier King Is Paid Tribute For Leadership

they will see that Mr. King represents Canada at the many vital conferences that will be held in the post-war years," the speaker said.

It is in the role of the "great conciliator" that Mackenzie King is best known but not so many people in the Dominion know of the prime minister's background; of the early years spent as a social worker where he saw at first hand the results of sweatshop labor and vowed to devote his life to the betterment of the lot of the common man, Senator Buchanan told his listeners.

"The Liberal party is not a revolutionary party. We are not out to turn the country upside down. We progress along revolutionary lines. Our objective and the objective of our leader is social justice to all, with internal harmony and unity among all the provinces," he said.

BROAD UNDERSTANDING

The senator said that no man in Canadian history has possessed such a broad understanding of the problems of labor or has authored so much advanced legislation.

The speaker suggested that the hand of Providence was moving for justice and right ever since 1939. There seemed little doubt now that Hitler could have brought Britain down had he moved against her right after the fall of France. But he did not choose to do so. Then there was Hitler's agreement with Russia, which he later broke to turn on that great nation. Now Russia is smashing the great German army.

"Then who shall say that the hand of Providence was not at work when such great leaders arose as Churchill in Britain, Roosevelt in the United States and King in Canada?" Senator Buchanan asked.

Although labor has criticized Mr. King, the record conclusively shows there never has been a man in the history of Canada who has done so much to better the lot of the working man or bring a greater understanding and sympathy to bear on the problems of labor, Senator Buchanan asserted.

BLAMES RESTRICTIONS

The criticism was blamed by the speaker on the many restrictions and ceilings that were necessary for a total war effort.

"I become impatient with the people who are always demanding an all-out war effort and who complain as soon as a restriction affects them personally. This kind of people favor an all-out war effort for everybody else but themselves," the senator declared amid applause.

Senator Buchanan then traced the personal history of Mackenzie King from the time early in the present century that he studied social welfare in the poor districts of Chicago and London. His report on sweatshop conditions in a government contracting plant in Toronto that later resulted in federal legislation outlawing such conditions, brought young Mackenzie King into the limelight for the first time.

Then came the early years spent as deputy minister of labor and later as minister of labor following his election to parliament for the first time in 1906, at 33.

The speaker said that full credit for the creation of the department of labor belongs to the present prime minister.

GREAT CONCILIATOR

Senator Buchanan related how impressed he was with the handling by Mr. King of a serious strike of miners at Lethbridge in those early years. It was then that the present leader's fame as a great conciliator started to grow.

Another incident illustrative of the painstaking thoroughness of Mr. King as a labor arbitrator was his report on conditions of work for telephone operators in Toronto.

Canada's achievements in the present war are in no small degree due to Mr. King's leadership. Our new, proud fighting navy and our magnificent air force are just two things that all Canadians are justly proud of in Canada's great war effort.

In social legislation there are old age pensions, unemployment insurance and more recently family allowances, all of which are measures, sponsored by the prime minister, Senator Buchanan said.

ALWAYS SOUGHT SEAT

Mr. King had never remained leader of the party without seeking a seat in parliament and whatever might be said in defence of Mr. Bracken, the spectacle of the leader of a national party making speeches all over the country without being able to make them from the floor of parliament, is a pathetic spectacle, he charged.

Mr. King had been leader of Canada in some of the most difficult periods of its history and if the people of Canada act with wisdom in the future they will see that Mr. King tops the record for prolonged public service set by the great Sir John A. Macdonald, Senator Buchanan said.

The speaker paid high tribute to Mr. King's efforts to increase Canada's foreign trade and to Hon. James A. MacKinnon, minister of trade and commerce, who is working night and day to carry the gospel of Dominion trade to all parts of the world.

CONSTANT SERVANT

Chairman Maclean introduced Senator Buchanan as a "constant servant of the people and particularly of the young people." Senator Buchanan's public life started in Edmonton when he became a member of Alberta's second legislature along with the late Hon. C. W. Cross.

H. M. Parlee, K.C., replying to the toast "To Canada" declared that Canada is a great country economically and if it were not for the anxiety occasioned by the war every Canadian should be happy and contented as compared to the peoples of the rest of the world.

Canadians are determined to have social reform and in this respect they are fortunate in having a man with vision and experience as their leader.

"I believe history will place Prime Minister King among the greatest statesmen and I believe that he himself would like to be remembered as the great conciliator."

Miss Kellie MacKinnon, daughter of Hon. James A. MacKinnon, was introduced to the gathering.

Messages of congratulation for holding the gathering, from Mrs. Cora Casselman, M.P. for Edmonton East, and Hon. James A. MacKinnon, were read, while the meeting also approved a congratulatory message to the Prime Minister.

The following were seated at the head table:

Miss Blanche Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald O'Connor, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Coupland, Miss Ruth Bryant, Miss Kellie MacKinnon, T. L. Cross, Senator Buchanan, His Worship Mayor John W. Fry and Mrs. Fry, Mr. and Mrs. Neil D. Maclean, Madame Tremblay, H. H. Parlee, K.C., Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Marshall, J. T. J. Collinson, K.C., and Mrs. J. B. Stewart.

messages from Liberal notables unable to be present.

Mrs. Casselman said throughout Canada there were thousands who would gladly have signed the scroll in tribute to the Prime Minister whose "contribution to Canada's life in peace and war will remain forever as evidence of his deep-rooted love of freedom and human welfare."

READS TELEGRAMS

Pensions Minister Mackenzie opened proceedings by reading a few of a sheaf of telegrams and congratulatory messages from all parts of Canada and from other countries.

Those read or mentioned were from Prime Minister Churchill; President Roosevelt; Prime Minister Smuts of South Africa; Cordell Hull, United States secretary of state; Ray Atherton, United States ambassador to Canada; Emil Ludwig, noted biographer; Premiers John Hart of British Columbia; Stuart Garson of Manitoba, A. S. MacMillan of Nova Scotia, John B. McVale of New Brunswick; Senator Turgeon of New Brunswick; the Marquis of Aberdeen, son of the former governor-general; the Gaelic Society of Scotland (in Gaelic); Mayor Stanley Lewis of Ottawa, now travelling in South America, and the North Waterloo Liberal Association.

North Waterloo is the constituency in which Mr. King was born at Berlin (now Kitchener) and for which he was first elected to parliament in 1908.

NATIONAL SHRINE

The message from the association announced that Mr. King's boyhood home, Woodside, had been obtained under a trust and would be preserved as a national shrine.

Mr. Churchill said: "Never, perhaps, has the world held Canada in higher esteem than during these last five years of war during which under your inspired leadership she has played so pre-eminent a part."

"I send you greetings on this memorable and commendable occasion," said President Roosevelt.

Mr. King said there was too much talk of an election while the war remained to be won, but recalled his two previous assurances that he would not extend the life of parliament beyond the five year term which expires next April and that he would not call an election before the war is over.

PLACE BEFORE ELECTION

"I intend to keep both of them," he said, indicating a conviction that the war will end before the time for an election in the normal course of events.

And Mr. King added, the rumors to the contrary, he will be again a candidate in Prince Albert constituency in northern Saskatchewan.

"They tell me the going will be rough," he said, "but I want to tell them that, rough or smooth the men who have stood by me in Prince Albert for 18 years will be given the opportunity to stand by me again."

The prime minister was in a chatty, reminiscent vein, as he spoke for an hour following some two hours of laudatory congratulatory and presentation speeches and after receiving messages from all parts of the world congratulating him on his passage of an unusual milestone in any man's political career.

NO HINT OF DATE

In his brief references to elections near the end of the speech, Mr. King said he could not say when the contest would be but, in a rather testy tone, remarked that ever since the last election people had been talking about another. Coming home to Canada from overseas and hearing election talk one would think there was no war on. The time had not yet come to divert any thought or energy from the prosecution of the war.

His personal inclination, he said, was to ask for a few years of meditation and study, time to write as Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir Wilfrid Laurier had wished to write of the history of Canada.

But the greatest opportunity for public service in the history of the world was at hand. He would be the last to ask to be relieved of any share in the strife that was coming or in the task of establishing a new order of greater opportunity and happiness for men.

RECORD OF SUPPORTERS

Preliminary speeches had dwelt on almost every phase of his political career. He said the record described was not his own, it was the record of his supporters and colleagues, the story of what has been done by members of the Liberal party from one end of the country to the other.

Among the many messages he had received came word that "a Liberal standard is being raised in every constituency across Canada."

"That," he said in a reference to the coming election, "is something for which I am extremely grateful and which augurs well for the events that are to come."

The Prime Minister expressed special appreciation for the gift of a statuette of his small dog "Pat," dead for some years.

"I can't tell you how much my association with that little fellow meant over 17 years," he said.

SPECIAL RESPONSIBILITY

Every member of the cabinet had borne some special and enormous responsibility in the war, some of them greater than those of the prime minister, said Mr. King in a special word of thanks to his ministers on their contribution to "victory," which is now rapidly and speedily approaching.

Many now were giving their lives, many had perished. The only justification for meeting was to "consecrate ourselves anew" to their service and to their future. The government and the Liberal party had the satisfaction of knowing that nothing had been left undone to contribute to the winning of the war and the support of the fighting man.

In the name of the Liberal party Mr. King renewed a pledge of support to those in the forces.

"We will be behind them to the last man in maintaining the effort Canada has put forward to win the war," he said.

YEARS OF OPPORTUNITY

"We are not only behind them in this struggle but we are thinking of the country they are coming back to and we are determined that the coming years will be years of opportunity for them."

Mr. King spoke of his appreciation for the service of those who had worked with him during his

FORT SASKATCHEWAN, Aug. 8.—Control of credit by the people is the thing that counts, rather than operation of utilities by the state, argued Floyd M. Baker, M.L.A. for Clover Bar, addressing his final campaign meeting at Ypres Valley school southeast of here Monday night. On this reasoning he based his case for the Social Credit cause as opposed to state socialism as espoused by the CCF.

Mr. Baker is running in one of the three Alberta constituencies in which there is a straight fight between the government and the CCF. The others are Stony Plain and Lac Ste. Anne.

He outlined the provincial government's record of progressive legislation in the fields of public health and education in particular, declaring it was ready to continue in the same direction when given a fresh mandate by the electors, as he was confident would be done.

ONE MORE ELECTION

"I am ready to go through at least one more general election," he said. "I don't think I can promise any more than that but I will, if Providence spares me, put the best that I have into the next election campaign."

World Security

Talks Delayed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(AP)—With the explanation that the Soviet government needs "a little more time" to prepare, the United States yesterday delayed for a week the beginning of post-war security talks here with Britain and Russia.

This action moves the date from Aug. 14 to 21, and, possibly by coincidence, lengthens the pre-conference period in which present negotiations for a solution of Russo-Polish problems may be concluded.

Edward R. Stettinius Jr., acting secretary of state, announced the delay in the security talks, which are aimed at producing tentative agreement among London, Washington and Moscow, and eventually Chungking, on plans for a world league to preserve peace.

Mr. Stettinius told his news conference that the postponement probably would "save time in the end."

This suggested that the Russian delegation might come here with zyn, 32 miles south of the East Prussian border, and Gen. Ivan C. Bagration's 1st Army at the northern end of the front sent two spearheads crashing toward Memel and Tilsit.

The Russians also cut one of the two remaining north-south railways serving an estimated 20 enemy divisions trapped in Latvia and Estonia and captured the Boryslav oil fields and Sambor, last two German strongholds guarding a 150-mile stretch of the Czechoslovak border.

The battle for Warsaw roared on without a let-up or decisive change, though Marshal Knostantin K. Rokossovsky's army was believed to have lightened its siege around the east bank suburb of Jozga and to be striving to by-pass the capital from the north and south and encircle it.

SECRET WEAPONS

Front dispatches said the Germans were throwing reinforcements into battle, heedless of cost and were using new "secret weapons."

The flanking threat against Warsaw from the south was increased by the fall of Szydlow, 115 miles below the capital, to Marshal Ivan S. Konev's 1st Ukrainian army in a 20-mile advance from the Vistula.

The capture of Szydlow, 58 miles northeast of Krakow and 37 miles from the German border, also broadened the Soviet wedge gradually splitting the German forces in western Poland.

The 1st Baltic army's twin thrusts toward the northern appendix of East Prussia were launched from the Lithuanian communications hub of Siauliai, midway between Riga and Kaunas.

No Jap Vote

With commendable promptness the attorney-general's department of Alberta has studied the election law to discover that the 2,000 Japanese moved into Alberta more than a year ago from British Columbia will not have a vote today.

It was reported earlier that these Japanese, being British subjects and residents of more than a year in Alberta, would have votes in the constituencies in which they now reside.

As The Bulletin pointed out last week, it would be a most tremendous prostitution of the franchise to extend it in this province to men and women who had been moved out of their own province as potential saboteurs and spies.

It is reassuring to know that the law supports this view or, at least, permits an interpretation which precludes such a disgusting degradation of the franchise.

All Alberta will be grateful for the enterprise of the attorney-general's department in issuing this ruling.

Supreme Test of Strength

To recount the current disasters of the Nazis in Europe is to come to the conclusion that, barring the intrusion of unknown factors, complete collapse of the Germans cannot be far off.

The progress of the Russians, our conquest of new invasion ports, the new momentum in the swing towards Paris, the steady weakening of German resistance—all these facts point to the beginning of the end.

These, then, are the indications that the war is entering its final phase. And we may couple to these the knowledge that the German soldier, in the ordinary way, is not at his best under the shadow of defeat.

There are, however, various uncertainties that must be taken fully into consideration.

How long, for instance, can the Gestapo, a unique part of the German war machine, flog the Germans into continued resistance?

To what extent, if any, has the army revolt spread to the ranks?

These are vital questions which may mean months in the duration of the war.

Tut! Tut! Mr. Sandwell

The erudite Saturday Night, which is the focal point of all the wit and wisdom of Toronto, undertakes to discuss the Alberta election in its latest issue.

With pontifical solemnity, Toronto Saturday Night bounces these reflections off the gloss of its stuffed shirt.

"The Alberta situation," writes this eastern pundit, "is considerably more obscure, for it is very hard to tell the extent of the inroads that the CCF may have made into Social Credit pastures. The Progressive Conservatives may get one seat in Edmonton; they may not. The Labor Progressives may get one or even two in the mining areas. The Liberals will not get less than four and may get as many as eleven. The fight is chiefly between New Democracy and CCF, with the CCF strength chiefly in Edmonton and in the north and in the mining districts."

"There are 63 seats. It is not likely that the small parties will get much more than five of these unless the Liberals do surprisingly well. Of the 58 remaining, the New Democracy seems to have a better chance than the CCF of getting a slight majority."

"There are several new factors. . . . Nobody can tell what may be the results of the American invasion."

There it is. And it's rather appalling. For Toronto Saturday Night, you know, adopts the position that it is always right. And that, of course, makes it very embarrassing for those in this province who, at the eleventh hour, will have to make various radical changes in order to maintain the infallibility of this sober and substantial journal.

For instance, somebody will have to hurriedly squeeze a Tory candidate in somewhere. And the Liberals will have to work very fast to nominate a slate between now and the closing of the polls.

But by far the greatest burden will fall on Premier Manning who, before nightfall, will not only be required to change the name of his party, but also enlarge the legislature to 63 seats.

It is all very disconcerting. However, for the benefit of Toronto Saturday Night, it might be well to briefly and simply enumerate the facts:

1. No Liberals or Progressive Conservatives are running in this election.

2. There are 57 seats in the Alberta Legislature, not 63.

3. The name of the party in power in this province is Social Credit, not New Democracy.

4. The "American Invasion" will not affect the election because, whatever they do in Toronto, American citizens do not vote in Alberta.

Work in the Argentine

There is evidence that a new tangle in relations between the United States and the Argentine is being fashioned. The U.S. State Department has taken a rather unusual course of publishing its conclusions about what an Argentine minister said, without quoting sufficient context to show how it justifies its conclusions.

The department quotes Argentina's minister of war, Col. Juan D. Peron in part and its "spokesman" charges that he sees no chance of a lasting peace, that he says his country should back a vigorous diplomacy with military might, and that he tries to establish that a totalitarian state is the only thing for Argentina.

What should not be overlooked is that Argentina has no particular liking for Germany or Japan but, as a neutral, she is exercising her privilege of judging both sides. She is a nation of Spanish blood, and by Peron's own words is a "satisfied," or a "happy" nation and thus not bent on conquest.

Although Peron appears not to have mentioned it, Argentina views with suspicion some activities of United States dollar diplomacy in Latin America. But in that she has the company of a large number of Americans such as Senator Hugh Butler who has been downright in his condemnation of it.

Also it must be said for Argentina that she viewed Axis expansion with similar or greater suspicion. Back in the dark days of the war, when she might have thought to gain by joining the aggressors, she remained neutral. True, she did admit German agents, and trafficked with Axis nations. But she also admitted British and Americans and trafficked with the United Nations as well.

It is not Canada's job to judge American-Argentine relations unless her advice is sought; but it certainly is Canada's job to mind her own relations with Argentina, as with every other Latin American nation, and to develop trade diplomatic and cultural contacts for all she is worth. It is true that the two countries produce similar goods, such as grain, beef, hides, wool, cheese, and that in world trade they are competitors rather than complements of each other.

But Argentina is embarking on heavy industries, and Canada has become an industrialized nation in this war. Canada also will operate a considerable merchant fleet after the war, even if only for coastal and hemispheric trade, as foreshadowed by the government. There may be a lot of goods and services we can sell her besides newsprint. There may be a lot of things we can buy from her.

Argentina looks like a pretty good test of Mr. Mackenzie King's policies as enunciated at the Prime Ministers' conference. And now is the time to apply them.

Looking Backward

From The Bulletin Files

1894: 50 Years Ago

Turnbull and McAdam, auctioneers, have leased the building on Main street belonging to the Kernohan estate.

Dr. Selwyn, CMG, FRS, LL.D., director of the geological survey of Canada, arrived by Monday's train. It is largely to Dr. Selwyn's credit that the government has been induced to test the indications of coal oil cropping out in that vast region of the Athabasca and Peace River districts, a mission upon which he started yesterday. It has been unknown to the world for the past century that in that district was to be found greatest stretch of tar beds in the world. The tar beds, which are merely the residue of the coal oil sands thickened by exposure and oxidation, have within themselves an economic value that with railway extension might be utilized into profitable enterprises. The knowledge to be sought now is what are the possibilities where oxidation has not occurred.

The Victoria Colonist notes the departure from that place of Mr. Ball, a civil engineer, with a small party of men from Duncan's Bay, to commence construction of the British Pacific railroad, a road that is destined if the hopes of its promoters are ever fulfilled to rival the CPR and may some day cross the mountains over the Yellow Head Pass.

Argument on Family Allowances

Measure Has Been Called "Paternalism" by Its Opponents

By GRANT DEXTER

OTTAWA: The main argument against family allowances is two-fold:

1. There is no place in a country which has always relied upon individual initiative, enterprise and self-reliance and which is richly endowed with resources, for this kind of paternalism. The wage and price levels should enable everyone willing to work to support a family.

2. The vast sum of money which would be needed for allowances could be spent to much greater advantage on schools, hospitals, children's aid, health and welfare generally.

Those who hold these views regard the allowance policy as a kind of national defeat—a denial of the very characteristics which have made this country what it is. Miss Whitton, however, concedes that the inter-war experience "somewhat slaked the flames of faith."

It is neither prudent nor necessary to import social security systems from countries whose backgrounds differ so widely from Canada's.

The United Kingdom, for example, is a highly industrialized country whose population is concentrated in a small area, and whose birth rate is falling. Moreover, the United Kingdom has gradually built up a complex structure of social assistance. The Beveridge recommendations, although they seemed revolutionary and were so described by Sir William, involved only a 70 per cent increase in the United Kingdom outlay on social welfare in 1945.

Application of the Beveridge plan to Canada, on the other hand, would mean increased expenditures on social security of from 250 to 275 per cent. The United Kingdom is free of the constitutional difficulties which afflict this country.

Canada has been built on the theory that every individual who wants to work can earn enough to support a family, either in wages or on the farm.

Miss Whitton regards this point as fundamental. "There is," she writes, "neither short-cut nor substitute to the fundamental requisite of wage and price levels adequate to maintain decent standards of living."

If industries cannot pay proper wages, they should be investigated and remedial action taken. This, also, she says, holds true of farm prices.

At one point Miss Whitton in "The Dawn of a Simpler Life" (page 18) argues for state regulation of wages and prices to this end. The maximum national income should be calculated, she says, and fair wages fixed and farm prices "adjusted" so that everyone will receive an income reasonably adequate to minimum living needs. How this is to be done, she does not say.

The first half of the alternative policy to family allowances, therefore, is adequate basic wages and fair farm prices.

The second half is to develop social utilities as distinct from cash grants. If you are going to raise the money for social services by taxation, rather than by flotation or deficit financing, you must spend it with the greatest efficiency.

"In the peculiarly characteristic elements in the Canadian situation," says Miss Whitton, "cash grants could not of themselves assure wider or more nutritional provision for the urban child nor affect greatly the feeding of the rural child. They would bring neither health nor educational advantages to the remote or undeveloped districts where they are most needed and where their establishment involves problems that it is simply not within the power of parents or small groups of parents to meet of their own initiative and planning. Yet the Canadian proposal for child-rearing allowances, based on the almost casual cognizance of this."

The money which would go in allowances could be spent more efficiently in other ways.

If the purpose is to aid agriculture, fishing or other basic industries, it is far better to give aid direct and to supervise its expenditure.

Health services would do more to improve the health of the people than allowances. Why not give more money here?

Why not double the expenditures on education?

Why not provide better housing? Why not spend money on the 85,000 to 100,000 children not now in their own homes?

Why not give more generously to child welfare and supervise the spending?

Why not increase old age pensions, sickness and disability grants and so on?

In brief, why not develop all the welfare services which have grown up naturally in the Canadian environment? This, it is argued, could be done at much less cost and with far better results.

Miss Whitton makes the statement that family allowances slash across the jurisdiction of the provinces and, as a federal measure, are unconstitutional. She claims that the Privy Council in the judgments on the Bennett New Deal decided that "the Dominion could not invade an area of provincial jurisdiction by the simple device of taxing and distributing funds within the provinces for purposes held exclusive to the province. . . . No documentary support for this view is given."

Rules for Food Refrigeration

More Perishable in Summer Than in Winter So Combat Spoilage

By MARY ALICE QUAYNE

A subject of particular concern in summer is that of food refrigeration. At this time of year food is more perishable than in winter months and additional care is required to combat spoilage and waste.

Four good general rules to remember are:

1. Keep the refrigerator at a

Rules for Food Refrigeration

temperature within the safety zone—from 32 to 45 degrees. Above this point micro-organisms, which do the destroying, grow rapidly. Below it, many foods will freeze. To judge the temperature place a thermometer on the middle shelf of the icebox, where an average cold is maintained.

2. Keep the refrigerator clean, so that foods such as butter and eggs will not absorb odors.

3. Take all foods from their market wrappings before placing them in the refrigerator, for paper hinders the transfer of cold.

4. Don't crowd the icebox, or air circulation will be restricted.

Certain foods must be refrigerated, while with others refrigeration is optional. When in doubt, store any food in the icebox.

Necessary
Certain foods that require refrigeration are: Dairy products, fresh meats, fish and poultry; frozen foods; fresh vegetables such as salad greens, leafy greens to be cooked, tomatoes, cucumbers, peppers, snap beans, carrots, broccoli and cauliflower; fresh berries and grapes (ripe fruits such as peaches, pears, cantaloupes, citrus fruits, if serving is to be postponed); all leftover cooked foods, including canned and bottled ones that have been opened.

If you have a large refrigerator the following foods may be stored if space allows: Breads, cakes and pastries; salad dressings and peanut butter if not used regularly; pickles and olives, after jars are opened; and carbonated beverages.

Fish and Meats
Fish should be stored in a tightly covered container to prevent transfer of odors. Fish must be used within twenty-four hours after purchase or else it must be frozen.

Steaks, chops and roasts, which keep better than other meats, may be stored up to three days just before the freezer. If they are to be kept longer they must be frozen immediately in the freezing compartment. Frozen meat will keep for two weeks or longer, but once it is thawed it is more perishable than other varieties. It should never be refrozen.

Ground meat and organ cuts, such as liver and kidneys, spoil rapidly and must be cooked within twenty-four hours after purchase. Otherwise they should be frozen.

Mildly cured meats, such as ham, tongue or bacon, are to be refrigerated constantly, and will keep up to two weeks. Remove only what you need at one time and leave the remainder in the refrigerator.

Place uncooked meat in a refrigerator tray or pan and cover it loosely with waxed paper. Do not encase it in the paper, as this will absorb some of the juices.

Cooked meats should be cooled and placed at once in the refrigerator. Cover them tightly to prevent drying. Keep all drippings in the icebox if possible, especially those that are to be used for cooking.

Vegetables
If leafy green vegetables are left at room temperature for as long as twenty-four hours, loss of 50 per cent of their vitamin C content is risked. Storage at 40 degrees will preserve 90 per cent of this vitamin, so all such vegetables should be refrigerated at once at a low temperature.

Before storing, wash and drain vegetables and discard roots and portions which will not be eaten. Do not cut or separate leaves, however, or loss of vitamin C will result.

Place vegetables in the hydrator of the refrigerator or in a container, or put them in oiled silk bags or wrap them in several thicknesses of waxed paper. If they are not covered the water evaporates and the vegetables shrivel. Parsley and watercress will stay fresh longer if, after being washed, drained and dried, they are stored in screw-top jars.

If you have leftover cooked foods be sure to store them in tightly covered containers and use as soon as possible. Most experts are agreed that leftovers are best when consumed within twenty-four hours after they are first cooked.

Many Poles oppose the Russians and Communists as much as they do the Nazis and their regime, but the Poles are accustomed to fight for freedom, with any help they can get.

Since 1763, Warsaw has fought Russian intrigue. Russia took possession of the town, but in the next year, during a bloody partition of Poland, Warsaw was handed to Prussia.

Napoleon's troops occupied Warsaw in 1806, but the city gained its independence as capital of the independent Duchy of Warsaw in 1807.

The city never retained its freedom for long. The Austrians took it over for a few months in 1809 when once more it became independent until 1813 when the Russians took their strongest hold on the town.

In 1890, and again in 1893, the Poles rebelled unsuccessfully against the Russian yoke in Warsaw. Revolutionists were executed or banished to Siberia. Hundreds of Russian officials poured into the city to fill administrative posts and act as teachers and professors.

The Russian language was made obligatory in official circles and to some extent even in trade.

The name Poland was expunged from official writings and Russian tribunals and administrative institutions were introduced.

The Poles came into their own, however, when the German army broke up in 1918 and held the city until 1939 when the Wehrmacht, with its lightning warfare, rolled into the city to take it in a tighter, more bloody grip than even the suffering Poles had ever seen.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON—Inside, distressing fact about Hitler's flying bomb is that the Nazis have learned how to build new launching platforms overnight. . . . Earlier, the robots were launched from heavy concrete—guarded tunnels in the ground. But as these were bombed out, the Nazis have learned to launch the robots from a couple of steel rails. They can make this cheap launching platform overnight.

Robots have been descending on London with greater frequency than ever recently—probably because of the new launching platforms. . . . London is rapidly becoming a shell city, largely evacuated. . . . The Nazis have now begun hammering southern seaports.

Air Power

Wrong Kind of Weapons

By Maj. A. P. de Seversky

German blood is flowing under the axes of Heinrich Himmler and his Gestapo killers. The full story of the attempted assassination and the revolt movement in the Third Reich is not yet available, but there can be little doubt that the drama marks the beginning of the end.

Even if the insurrectionary mood is temporarily quenched in blood, it means that morale is cracking. There is a Russian proverb to the effect that a fish begins to rot in the head. It is precisely in the head—among its top-shelf leadership—that Germany is beginning to disintegrate.

The will to resist, in a people so determined as the Germans, can never be broken by shells, bombs and bayonets—as long as the hope of successful retaliation and defence remains alive. The theory that a nation's morale can be smashed by death and destruction has been largely exploded in this war. Sometimes the effect is even the reverse, in that a nation is drawn closer together by the common danger. But this holds true only while the belief remains that ultimately the tables will be turned, that more losses will be hurled on the enemy than he is at the moment imposing on your own country. Morale deteriorates rapidly when that belief begins to evaporate. In Germany, it has been the historic task of air power to bring home the truth of the country's hopelessness, of the futility of resistance.

ON GERMAN SOIL

The only military force which thus far has actually fought on German soil and fought the great conflict inside the frontiers of the country has been air power. The Army, though badly mauled by the Russians in the East, by the other Allies in the Mediterranean and now in Normandy, is still intact. Not German cities, but Russian, Polish, Italian and French cities are suffering the brunt of ground operations. German propaganda can still play with hopes of stopping the Allied forces of this or that "shortened line." Where does the devastating sense of the futility of further struggle come from? The answer of history, I believe, will be: from the air.

It was in the air that Germany lost its first major engagement, the Battle of Britain. It was there that the German people realized that their whole concept of the use of aviation was erroneous. They had staked all on the "wrong strategy, tactics and equipment. In a democracy, public opinion would have forced Goering and his group either to change or to get out—that is one of the advantages of democracy. In totalitarian Germany, where leaders cannot be wrong, mistakes are perpetuated.

When the combined American and British strategic air forces began to grind down city after city in the Reich, German morale began to give way. It was continuously buoyed up by official promises to retaliate on a terrible scale. The first attempt to make good on the promises came after we had struck telling blows at Berlin. It was then that Germany unleashed its secret weapon in the form of aerial torpedoes.

Those torpedoes did take a heavy toll from our bombing forces in the skies. But we succeeded in bringing escort fighters into the tactical picture, thus augmenting the firing power of our air armada. We were able to keep our losses down to an average of about 10 per cent over Germany—a loss which we were able to absorb. German morale thereupon took another nosedive. It had to be replaced with new promises of new secret weapons. The Nazis even "dared" us to invade, indicating that the Luftwaffe would demolish any attempt to invade Fortress Europe. When we finally struck, the fact that the Luftwaffe was bluffing became evident to any German child. We had apparently whittled German air power, on the ground and in the skies, so seriously that we could assume undisputed control over the Channel and the beaches.

A new source of hope for the Germans was provided by the expectation that the Allies would have to divide their air power between support of the invading armies and strategic bombing of Germany, so that relief from the air threat would be found at last. In reality this hope, too, failed. By this time we have accumulated sufficient air strength to enable a continuation of effective bombing of Germany even while supporting our invasion forces.

Flying Tiger

A pilot told workers at the Oklahoma City Air Depot that the Japs were scared to death of tigers, so when the gang was assigned a four-motor Liberator bomber they painted on it the brilliant tiger's head seen in the photo above. The Jap-scarer is bright yellow, with green eyes, a black nose and white-fanged mouth dripping bright red "blood."

At this point, as a last shot in the arm to the expiring German faith in retaliation and victory, Hitler let loose his so-called robot airplanes. In spite of the fact that London has suffered substantial damage, however, it became clear even to laymen in Germany that this sort of long-range shelling is not a substitute for real air power. It has no true strategic meaning since it cannot in any way diminish the magnitude of the Allied attack on Germany.

It is altogether likely that a great many Germans now realize that once again Hitler, Goering and their cohorts have invested Germany's dwindling industrial resources into the wrong type of strategy and equipment. Terror weapons, they recognize, cannot take the place of strategic weapons, because they cannot force a decision.

In all of that, it seems to me, we have some clue to the feeling of hopelessness which is at the bottom of the political explosions in Hitlerland. Not the fear of bombs in itself, but the growing certainty that Allied air power was destroying the means to wage war and thereby making resistance—let alone retaliation—impossible, brought the Nazi regime to a crisis which, we all pray, will be fatal.

Recommend Vote In City Dispute

OTTAWA, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Labor Minister Mitchell yesterday announced a majority report of a conciliation board investigating a union recognition dispute at the Edmonton plant of Canada Packers Ltd., has recommended a vote in January, 1945, to determine which union will represent the employees.

Concerned are United Packinghouse Workers of America (C.I.O.) and the Packing Plant Employees Federal Union (T.L.C.). The Trades and Labor Congress union now has an agreement with the company.

Last April 14 a vote was taken with a majority of those voting, but not a majority of the eligible employees, supporting the C.I.O. union. The company said it was not prepared to sign a contract until it was clearly established that the union represented a majority of the workers.

As a result the conciliation board was appointed with H. H. Parlee of Edmonton as chairman. Mr. Parlee and Lawrence Cairns of Edmonton, representing the company, signed the majority report. Rev. C. J. Foran, the employees' representative submitted a minority report recommending holding of another vote as quickly as possible.

It is four or five times more costly and difficult to find new oil reserves today than it was before the war.

Commons Cheers News Canadian Army in Field

OTTAWA, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Members cheered in the Commons yesterday when Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced the 1st Canadian Army under Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar "has now taken its place in the order of battle and is participating in the operations in Normandy."

Members had first heard about the composition of the 1st Army when Defence Minister Ralston addressed the house in replying to criticism that the army had been split up with a corps of two divisions going to Italy. He indicated this deficiency would be made up by British or other Allied formations being placed in the 1st Army together with a Canadian corps of three divisions and a Canadian armored formation.

TWO OR MORE CORPS

He described the 1st Army setup as "an organization consisting of a headquarters and army troops supporting, servicing and directing two or more corps."

(It is understood Canadian Army headquarters has about 500 officers and 7,000 men.)

He said that even though only one Canadian Corps was attached to the 1st Army "those who are conducting operations are extremely glad indeed to have that army headquarters with those army troops in order that they may direct and support the Canadian Corps, along with other formations of British or other Allied troops which may be put into the same army organization...."

On March 20 Col. Ralston announced to the house that Gen. Crerar had assumed command of the 1st army, taking over from Lt.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart, chief of the general staff overseas, who had temporarily filled the army command after Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton went on leave for health reasons in December.

At that time it was understood that under Gen. Crerar would be the 2nd Canadian Corps, commanded by Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, Kingston, Ont., and British units.

REMAIN TOGETHER

It was believed then that the combined Canadian-British force would remain together at least until such time as war developments made it possible for the 1st Corps in Italy, under Lt.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Westmount, Que., to again become part of the 1st Army.

However, there has been no suggestion that the 1st Corps would be shifted from Italian front for such an operation might take weeks to complete.

Senator Expects Federal Election In Few Months

VANCOUVER, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Senator J. W. Farris said at a MacKenzie King dinner here last night that there will be a federal general election "within a few months."

Senator Farris said the Prime Minister "stands in a class by himself" in the field of leadership and should be re-elected.

Senator Farris said the fate of civilization will depend on the friendly and intelligent co-operation of the United States and the British Empire at the peace conference and added that Mr. King understands Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt "better than either understands the other."

"... More than that, he knows more than either of them. He is a more profound student of social problems than any public man in the world."

The plane, built in Toronto, was christened "The Moose" and will be flown overseas for active duty.

TRUE STORIES OF CANADIAN WAR HEROES

By GORDON SINCLAIR Internationally famous journalist and author of several best-selling books on war and travel.

SALUTE TO A JUNGLE-GOING CANADIAN

ONE of the few Canadians to fight with Wingate's Raiders in the leech-filled jungles of Burma, Neil Turnbull... a corporal in the Royal Canadian Signals... fought off a Jap bayonet charge two hours after he first hit the front line.

In palm, teakwood and banyan, where soldiers can't see their buddies within 40 feet, radio is vital... like bullets.

Army ants hungrily ate insulation from radios of Wingate's Raiders, and mildew ruined exposed wiring. Ant-proof radio had to be flown to the battle zone at grave risk, and Turnbull, who had never been in a plane, volunteered to go.

Reaching base above the airfield Turnbull's group of four came under fierce fire with Japs using explosive bullets, mortars and howitzers.

Turnbull took refuge in a foxhole near his gear, but under increased fury of fire was ordered to abandon the precious radio, and retire.

After dark, in creepy light, the Japs charged with bayoneted rifles, knives and swords. Turnbull and his three men fought off that charge with Tommy guns, then raced forward.

They killed a dozen Japs, drove others to retreat, retrieved the vital radio intact, then joined the British in fighting off a second Jap charge with great loss to the enemy, none to themselves.

For such gallantry in his first battle, a salute to a jungle-going Canadian signaler.

Canadians can be proud of their part in the great Invasion of the Continent. Ships of the Royal Canadian Navy, over 700 of them, landed Canadian fighting men, who captured a dozen towns in the first forty-eight hours, while the men of the R.C.A.F. played their part in the air overhead. Until final victory, the men and management at U.D.L. will continue to produce high-test alcohol for vital war materials in this war-gear plant—twenty-four hours a day—every day in the year. More than any similar plant in Canada.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

THE fact that 6,000 patrons were on hand for the first two light racing to be held at the Edmonton Exhibition Association track, would appear to leave little doubt as to the innovation being popular, or the meet itself proving a success.

Track conditions were good again, as reflected in the times in the various races. Aside from K. Cookie's record-breaking performance in the sixth event, improvement was in the other races too. Pagan Pilot went the mile and sixteenth last night in 1:50 4-5, four seconds better than All Sweep on Saturday and 6 3-5 under Pagan Queen's time.

Jockeys Joe Vina, the Cuban, and Joe Braddish were the big winners on Monday. Each had a pair of firsts, while Vina picked up three seconds and Braddish one place, with three thirds. Vina now has four wins in the meet, the same as Roy Russell, who was in yesterday's spill. Braddish was in the money every time out—six in a row. He was to have ridden Hi-V-York in the first half of the double, but his mount was scratched.

BROADMORE BEHAVE'S record which went by the boards on Monday when Jockey Joe Braddish gave K. Cookie a great ride and brought her under the wire in 1:21 2-5 was marked up on July 17, 1931, during the regular Exhibition meet. W. Zeigler was the jockey. Other horses in the race were Excess Baggage, Bon Bobby, Amsterdam, Fort Worth and Compline Bell.

Fort Worth was rated an outstanding sprinter and hence was a hot favorite. Amsterdam, as will be recalled in the story of yesterday's spill, was the horse who entered in the fifth race today. And by the way, R. Maskell rode Bon Bobby. Broadmore was third choice and paid off at $8.50, $3.50, $2.70.

Army May Lift Hockey Ban For Regional Competition

WINNIPEG, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Maj. H. C. Beaumont of Ottawa, Canadian army sports officer, said here Monday that lifting of the ban on hockey for purposes of regional competition was under consideration by national defence headquarters.

(The army, navy and RCMP last year banned participation by service team personnel from All-Canada and Memorial cup competitions. A statement from Defence Minister Ralston at that time said "participation in hockey or any other sport cannot be allowed to delay complete and earliest training of every soldier for despatch overseas.")

Major Beaumont said that sports would receive fresh emphasis in any training plans for the remainder of the war and in the army's post-war functions.

Carveth Hurls Walk-Rite "A" To 4-1 Victory

Three runs in the fourth inning supplied the margin of victory for the Walk-Rite "A" club over Bomberettes at Kingsway Park Monday night when they chalked up a 4-1 triumph in the City Girls' Fastball League.

Betty Carveth turned in one of her best performances of the season to hold the losers to a triple, slammed out by Lois Stoughton who scored the only run for the Bomberettes. She came from third home on a passed ball.

The Walk-Rite's rally in the fourth that won the game for them came on hits by Frances Zavitz, Gwen Riddle, Isabel Whitley and Dot Meyers and a pair of errors. Lois Stoughton also pitched a nice game of ball and only allowed six hits.

Former Blue Bomber Star

Fritz Hanson Is Appointed Sports Officer of M.D. 10

WINNIPEG, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Lieut. Melvin (Fritz) Hanson, regarded as the greatest running halfback ever seen in western football and sparkplug in three Dominion championship drives by Winnipeg Blue Bombers, has been appointed sports officer for Military District No. 10, military authorities announced Monday.

The 32-year-old Hanson who earned himself the nickname of "Twinkleton" for the many sensational runs he produced during six seasons of play in Winnipeg, has been a member of the Canadian army for two years. He enlisted in the Winnipeg Light Infantry, Winnipeg's sports battalion, as a private but was commissioned soon afterwards.

While training at the Canadian battle drill training school last year at Vernon, B.C., he severely injured his right leg during field exercises. This injury has prevented him from seeing overseas service. Only recently he was refused application to the Canadian parachute battalion.

Born in Perham, Minn., Hanson joined Winnipeg Blue Bombers in 1935 following a star gridiron career at North Dakota state college, and led Bombers to the Grey cup, the first time in history a western club had captured the Dominion football title. His 70-yard dash for a touchdown against Hamilton Tigers was chosen by sports writers as the year's "best athletic achievement."

He was also member of Winnipeg clubs when they again won the title in 1939 and 1941 from the Ottawa teams.

Hanson was named Canada's No. 1 athlete in 1939, the first time an American had carried off such an award.

Under the Canadian army's new policy of renewed emphasis on sports, Hanson may be available for football competition in Winnipeg this fall.

Despite his leg injury, he has competed successfully in army track meets and believes his leg will be strong enough for football.

Five New Marks Set

Edith Skitch Star Athlete In Provincial Track Meet

Young Edith Skitch who has been burning up local tracks as a junior, turned out as an intermediate for the provincial inter-scholastic and senior women's track and field meet sponsored by the Edmonton Girls' Athletic Club at Clarke Stadium Monday afternoon and came up with three new records. Two other new marks were recorded when Donald Pettie of Calgary won the 100 yards dash for boys under 18 in 10 2-5 seconds, and Bill Kelly, also of Calgary jumped 19 feet, 11 inches in the running broad.

Edith clipped along at a terrific speed in the 80 metres hurdles and covered the distance in 13 seconds to knock 2 3-5 seconds off the former record of 15 2-3 and then followed up with new marks in the high jump and running broad jump.

She also equalled the previous fastest time of eight seconds in the 60 metres run and came through in the 100 metres race, the fifth and only other event she entered. In the high jump, Edith just barely bettered the old mark by going four feet, 9 1/4 inches, which is only 1/4 of an inch better than the previous 4, 8 3/4. She made a real broad jump, however, and leaped 16 feet, 9 1/2 inches, which is 8 1/2 inches farther than the one she bettered.

The other girls of A. R. Lawrence's Edmonton Girls' Athletic Club also did especially well. Gladys Limming won the running broad and high jumps in the senior women's open division and was second in the 60 metres run while Viola McGhan took the 60 metres and 100 metres races and was next to Gladys in the high jump.

Among some of the outstanding visiting athletes were Max Fairbanks of Raymond who chalked up three firsts in the boys under 16 division, Bill Kelly of Calgary who won three events in the boys under 18 class and Ernie McCullough, also of Calgary who captured three events in the senior men's section in addition to a second.

K. Cookie Cuts Time To 1:21 2-5

CIVIC holiday throng of 6,000 saw K. Cookie establish a new record for 6 1/2 furlongs over the Edmonton Exhibition Association track when she went the distance in 1 minute, 21 2-5 seconds in the sixth event of the second card of the current 10-day racing meeting Monday night.

The bay daughter of Gallant Sir-House Baby owned by the Brown and Zess Stable of Saskatoon and trained by J. Brown, shaved one-fifth second off the mark of 1:21 3-5 made by Broadmore Behave on July 17, 1931. Jockey Joe Braddish brought her under the wire more than a length in front of Bragabout, owned by Mrs. S. R. Marks, of Lexington, Ky. Calla Donna, Mrs. E. Johansen's entry from Calgary, ran third.

Mutuel handle showed a big jump over the first day's take, exactly $83,475 passing through the tills. That sum exceeded Saturday's total by around $14,000. It was the initial twilight racing card for the Exhibition track.

A bad spill in the third race sent two jockeys to hospital. One of them, E. Sylvia who was riding Lady Moira suffered a broken leg. Roy Russell got off with a few bruises and bad shaking up and he was a spectator for the last couple of races. Russell's mount, Story Teller, owned by S. Riddle of Calgary, subsequently was ordered destroyed.

The accident occurred on the turn just before the horses entered the stretch. Best Dressed was in the lead by more than a length over Miss Zephyr, with Coon Dog third and Story Teller fourth. Story Teller began to loaf and so Russell reached and hit him. The horse responded quickly and his fore feet struck Coon Dog's hind feet and down he went.

Jockey Marsell on Dry Marsh, who was running fifth did a nice bit of riding to avoid the crash. Sylvia swung loose from Lady Moira as the horse ducked and was tossed onto the centre of the track. Both boys were removed immediately by ambulance.

The "Silent" daily double paid $10.50, there being 420 tickets on the Silent Double to Little Silent combination to share in the $5,314 pool. There were 229 patrons who correctly guessed the quinella and each received $29.90 in the split of the $5,314 pool.

Three favorites—Silent Double in the first race, Little Silent in the second and K. Cookie in the third—came through as expected. Three others, Coon Dog in the fourth, Mesmerist in the fifth and Nikkita in the seventh finished in the place position. Best Dressed who took the third race was actually third in the public fancy, although by a small margin over Coon Dog and Dry Marsh.

Best return for the day was the $29.90 returned by Gatlwick II in the seventh.

Silent Dougie soon outran the field in the first race held on well while hard pressed and outfinished Vi-Hatter. The latter, hard urged all the way, closed strongly but was not good enough for the winner. Carmar Lass saved ground while close to the pace but faltered in the final drive. Others were never prominent.

Little Silent, easily best in the second, drew clear in the opening furlong, stalled off a mild challenge from Mr. Bo and drew away in the stretch. Mr. Bo showed a fair effort but was no match for the winner. Devil's Choice improved her position in the last quarter and finished well. Isalite tired. Annoyed lost some ground at the first turn.

Best Dressed took command soon after the start of the third event on the card, held on without trouble all the way and outlasted Coon Dog. The latter was hard urged from the start but could never reach the winner. Miss Zephyr raced forwardly but tired after five furlongs. Story Teller when well placed entering the stretch causing Dry Marsh to take up and Lady Moira to unseat Sylvia.

In the fourth race Shifty Sue saved ground early, took command after a half, drew out in the last quarter and won with something in reserve. Yeo Marcus worked his way into contention but had little left through the stretch. Coordinator lacked early speed but gained some ground in the stretch. Gay Paris dwelt at the start and lost many lengths. Hire Fly tired. Cover Crop stopped badly.

Pagan Pilot, second choice in the fifth, took command at once, made the running with a clear lead and held Mesmerist safe in a mild drive. Mesmerist bettered her position in the last three furlongs, closed gamely but was not good enough. Ebony Moon stayed close to the pace early but gave way in the last quarter. Vesuvius tired after chasing the winner for a half.

K. Cookie disposed of Hi Onslaught after three furlongs had been run in the sixth, held on well thereafter and stalled off Bragabout's bid through the stretch. Bragabout dwelt when the break

Singles Finalists Declared In Junior Tennis Tourney

All finalists were declared in the girls' and boys' singles events and one pair reached that stage in each of the three doubles competitions in the city-wide junior tennis tournament as a result of play at the Scona Centre courts on Monday.

Murray Stewart and Alan Batchelor will battle it out for the boys' singles championship in the final to be played at Civic Service on Saturday afternoon starting at 2 o'clock while Helen Lilly will meet Gloria Hobeck for the girls' singles crown.

In the boys' doubles, Mal McKay and Batchelor have successfully reached the final while the other berth is still to be decided. Bill Henning and Alf Jackson will take on Don Miller and Murray Stewart in the semi-final, probably next Wednesday, and the winners will meet McKay and Batchelor. Grace Wilson teamed up with Alf Jackson and the pair won their way into the final of the mixed doubles. The other final berth is still to be filled. The finalists defeated Donna Dowser and Ralph McMillan in the semi-final yesterday.

At present the girls' doubles stands with Gloria Hobeck and Mary Collins, Donna Dowser and Helen Lilly, and Delores Miller and Lois MacIntyre all remaining in the battle. One pair will receive a bye into the final and the other two will meet in the semi-final.

One of the toughest matches on yesterday's program was in the boys' singles between Murray Stewart and Don Miller. Stewart took the second and last sets of a match that went the full three and was forced to give out with everything he had to eliminate Miller, who was the middle seed.

St. Louis Browns Open Important Road Trip
ST. LOUIS, Aug. 8.—(AP)—With the cheers of the season's best paying crowd still ringing in their ears, the pennant-hungry St. Louis Browns, leading the American League by 6½ games, left town last night on a possible make-or-break road trip.

Despite the Browns' first-place margin and an eight-game winning streak, Manager Luke Sewell affirmed his healthy respect for every club in the circuit.

"We've got everybody to beat," he said before he left for a rest at his Akron, Ohio, home. He'll meet the team in New York for its first game with the Luke Sewell Yankees Wednesday.

Nearly 17,000 fans who watched the Browns rap the Cleveland Indians twice Sunday were figuring it would take a long losing streak to stall the Browns' pennant drive.

But even if the Browns play .500 ball the rest of the way, the second-place Red Sox would have to win 32 of their remaining 51 games for a .487 percentage to catch them. That's 69 points better than the Boston pace so far. The third-place Yankees would have to reach the same percentage by winning 31 of their 43 games, 102 points better than they have been playing.

Alberta Tournament Opens

Calgary Rink Takes Honors In Lawn Bowling Competition

THREE events, the city rinks, visiting rinks and the twilight doubles dominated play on the first day of the Alberta Lawn Bowling Association's 17th annual tournament being held here this week. One competition, the visitors' event for the T. Eaton Trophy, was completed Monday and was won by Tom Jackson's Calgary Bow Valley quartet.

In the other two competitions on the opening day, the city rinks event for the Birks Trophy reached the semi-final stage while the twilight doubles set off to a good start with two games being played by each pair.

Jackson went through the four games in the T. Eaton competition without a loss at the Royal greens league hitting as he did on the coast, Rex might make up partially for the loss of Tex. But that's conjectural.

RICKSON CREW SECOND
George Rickson, Calgary Bow Valley, T. Halsall, Calgary Glenecoe and John Bull, Calgary Club all wound up with three victories and one loss each, but Rickson was awarded second prize, Halsall third and Bull fourth, rated on the scores throughout the four titles.

A somewhat of a novelty turned up in the Birks Trophy play when two brothers, Rev. D. C. Ramsey and Walter Ramsey, both of Garneau skipped the rinks that both came up with an eight-ender, a bowlers' dream.

Rev. D. C.'s perfect score was registered at the Patricia Greens against W. McDonald of the Patricia Club while Walter Ramsey's great end came on the seventh against Colin Allan of Royal at Alberta Avenue.

In the city event, James Anderson, Edmonton; Art Gregor, Patricia and Frank Williams, Edmonton fill three of the four semi-final berths. They each skipped winning rinks in the different sections yesterday while in the other group there is a three-way tie between Harry Schofield, Royal; James Campbell, Alberta Avenue and Archie Stewart, Edmonton.

The tie will be played off sometime before Saturday and the competition will be decided on the final day when the semi-finals and finals are staged.

The rinks in this event were divided into four groups and played at Edmonton, Garneau, Alberta Avenue and Patricia Greens. Anderson's crew won three and lost two, the same as Gregor's quartet while the three that are now tied all won four and lost one. Williams also took four in winning his section.

Only two games were played in the twilight doubles last evening, but the other two will be run off today. This event, for the Irving Kline Trophy is one of the most popular ones of the tourney and has a big entry.

This morning, play in the provincial rink championship (Hudson's Bay Trophy) opened and two of the four qualifying games were to be finished today. This competition will continue on Wednesday morning and the playoff will start on Wednesday afternoon between the first 16 to qualify.

No Shortage of Room House Told Accommodation For Casualties Is Adequate

OTTAWA, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Three of the government ministers responsible for providing hospital accommodation for war casualties yesterday assured members of the Commons that everything possible was being done to make sure there was no shortage of room for the wounded returning from the battle fronts.

Pensions Minister Mackenzie, Defence Minister Ralston and Navy Minister Macdonald said hospital accommodation was constantly being expanded, and they denied reports there was disagreement and lack of co-operation among their departments.

They spoke after Dr. H. A. Bruce (PC, Toronto-Parkdale) moved that the house adjourn to discuss the hospital situation, which, he said, has been described as "critical" by Premier George Drew of Ontario in a statement Saturday. Dr. Bruce withdrew his motion after several members had spoken on it.

PROPER ACCOMMODATION

"Looking over the number of casualties and looking over the construction program now under way and looking at the bed accommodation we already have—about 20,000 beds at the present time—I must say on my responsibility that I am assured and I am confident that there will be proper accommodation for those boys requiring it," said Mr. Mackenzie.

Col. Ralston said the Army was speeding plans for expansion of its hospital accommodation.

"Every possible pressure is put on the situation so that there will be no possible lack of accommodation so far as the Army is concerned for any number of casualties which can reasonably be expected to come," said Col. Ralston.

Mr. Macdonald said that confidence of the defence minister in Mr. Mackenzie had grown in recent months.

TRIBUTE TO PREMIER

Dr. Bruce moved his motion after all opposition parties in the house joined in paying tribute to Prime Minister Mackenzie King on the 25th anniversary of his selection as leader of the Liberal party.

Mr. King said no event in his career meant more to him than the tribute given him in the house yesterday. He was deeply touched by the expressions of goodwill from the other leaders, all of whom were intimate personal friends.

On the suggestions of Mr. Graydon and Mr. Caldwell, it was decided the house would not sit Monday night to allow all Liberal members to attend a dinner being tendered Mr. King.

The afternoon sitting was spent

Future Lend-Lease Not Yet Requested

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(CP)—A report by the United States National Association of Manufacturers that British officials are insisting on continuation of lend-lease after Germany's defeat brought a declaration yesterday from Edward R. Stettinius, acting secretary of state, that "the British government has not raised with us the future of lend-lease."

Both the United States and Britain, Mr. Stettinius told a news conference, "are completely occupied with the war campaigns in Europe and the Far East."

"No one can possibly foresee what changes in the situation of war may bring about," he added, "or how soon these changes may reflect themselves in lend-lease operations."

Foreign economic administration officials indicated that battle considerations will remain uppermost in distributing lend-lease when Germany goes under, and if Britain needs aid to fight Japan, it probably will be forthcoming.

The present lend-lease act expires next June 30, and no operations could be carried on beyond that date without congressional extension of the act.

on amendments to the Income War Tax Act arising out of the budget.

CONGRATULATES GOVERNMENT

Stanley Knowles (CCF, Winnipeg North Centre) congratulated the government on reducing the basis for exemption from income tax to the ground of medical expenses so that expenses exceeding four per cent of the income are deductible.

He was also glad that parents of student nurses would be able to claim exemption for their support in the same way as parents of University students.

On a clause allowing corporations exemption on account for expenditures on scientific research John Diefenbaker (PC, Lake Centre) argued for an extension of this exemption to include research on working conditions and labor relations.

Large British Sporting Crowds Enjoy Holiday

LONDON, Aug. 8.—(CP Cable)—Britain Monday celebrated the greatest sporting bank holiday of the war, in direct contrast to the situation in Germany where all sports have been cancelled for an indefinite period.

British leaders have long held that sport is essential in wartime as an escape valve and Monday tens of thousands of Britons streamed to two race meetings, a dozen first class cricket matches including an England-Australia test match at Lord's, a lawn tennis competition with an international flavor at Bournemouth, and scores of other attractions.

There were boxing, swimming, cycling, greyhound races and track and field meets, with the program starting Saturday, featured by a couple of important exhibition soccer matches in Scotland.

Despite the threat of buzz bombs and the large exodus of Londoners to the seaside and country resorts, attendance at the seven large greyhound tracks in London yesterday totalled more than 130,000 and thousands of pounds changed hands.

More than 25,000 persons watched a 10-race program at the Royal Ascot race course, where caterers brought back memories of pre-war luxuries by selling lobster at $1 a portion and champagne at $16 a bottle.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Sally Sessions conquered the rugged Ontario course with a one-under-par 74 Monday, setting a record for the course and equalling the all-time low qualifying score in the 44-year history of the Women's Western Amateur Golf tournament.

The 21-year-old Muskegon, Mich., girl won medalist honors with a four-stroke margin over the Stanford University junior, 20-year-old Betty Jean Rucker of Spokane, Wash., who shot a 38-40-78.

Competition for the Marion Miley Memorial trophy, awarded for the lowest combined qualifying score of both the Western Open—which was held in June—and the amateur, resulted in a tie between Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia, the defending champion, and Phyllis Otto of Omaha, Neb. A playoff for the trophy may be held later this week.

Clubs Reinstated Coast Lacrosse

VANCOUVER, Aug. 8.—(CP)—The inter-city box lacrosse league's commission Monday night reinstated three civilian teams which had been suspended for refusing to play against the Army team.

Possibly the teams—New Westminster Salmonbellies, Vancouver Burrards and Vancouver Richmond—may again refuse to play against the soldiers as seen in their demand that all future Army games be exhibitions. The commission did not deal with this demand.

The soldiers were reinstated recently by the commission after being out of the league about 10 days due to a ruling by Army officials. The Army officials also approved the reinstatement.

The civilian teams refused to play the soldiers as a protest against reinstatement by the commission without consultation with the teams. The commission, appointed at the league's annual meeting in September from the league executive.

The league executive will meet Thursday night to discuss the situation. Last night Navy beat Army 15-11 in a scheduled league game.

CANADIAN SPORTSHOTS

By SYD THOMAS

TORONTO, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Announced intention of the Saskatchewan Mobilization Board not to grant border crossing permits to Canadian hockey stars wishing to play with U.S. teams, has stirred a considerable froth of comment about this country.

Men in military-eligible categories will have to go into essential war work or else go on a farm and learn how to extract milk from a bottle, according to the announcement from Regina. This rule can be put in effect in all provinces, since it is a federal statute, and if that is done some of the N.H.L. teams will be even lighter in big-time talent than they were last winter—if that is possible.

However, Baz O'Meara of the Montreal Star adopts a properly philosophical attitude toward the whole thing. The youngsters now being developed can step into the breach—at least until the time they become eligible for military call-up—and things will go on much as before. The fans are used to the war brand of hockey by now, opines Baz, and they won't notice much difference even if a complete high school team is led for their edification.

Incidentally:
Some people are bears for punishment. Tony Stecher, familiarly known as the brain, is thinking of reviving the heave-and-huff pastime in Winnipeg. About eight years ago Mr. Stecher financed another attempt to put wrestling on the map in the 'Peg, and reportedly dropped $2,500.

Ted Reeve, breezy sports columnist of the Toronto Telegram, has produced his first column from the battlefield in France. There isn't a great deal of organized sport in France now—aside from rat-hunting—so Ted devoted his first effort to describing his impressions of the fight in his column is just incidental, because he's a full-fledged soldier with Maj. Conny Smythe's sportsman's battery, and has other things to attend to.

Dave Trotter, former Toronto Grads amateur and Montreal speedster, is in Halifax now, lending a hand providing sport and recreation for the young sea cadets.

Credit Facilities For Small Firms Vital Says Ilsey

OTTAWA, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Government will be forced into large scale public investments and social-ism unless private investment is given all necessary credit facilities to create employment, Finance Minister Ilsey told the Commons banking committee yesterday.

Answering critics of the industrial development bank bill, he said credit facilities for small and medium sized industry were necessary, Canada would need all possible investment in the post-war period in order to provide employment.

Critics of the bill would "hamstring" small industry by denying to it the facilities already open to large scale business through existing machinery.

THE LENGTHENED SHADOW OF A MAN...

● The love and devotion of a man for his family can live on after his passing. He can make sure of a regular income for his family whether or not he is here to earn it.

He can provide funds to clear off a mortgage, to give his children an education, to enable his family to face the future without fear of privation.

All these benefits can be assured by an Imperial Life policy. Life insurance is indeed "the lengthened shadow of a man", continuing into the future the means for the upbringing of his family just as though he himself were present.

Imperial Life policies are designed to provide for a man's retirement years as well. Your Imperial Life representative will be glad to discuss with you a plan suited to your particular needs.

CCF Speakers Address Final City Meeting

Led by Provincial Leader Elmer E. Roper, CCF candidates running in the Edmonton constituency and other party speakers completed campaigning for today's election Monday night when they addressed a meeting in the I.O.O.F. hall. About 70 persons attended.

Mr. Roper, first speaker of the evening, told his listeners that the "threat" to the present government had got results for the people, adding that there had been more progressive legislation passed in this province since the CCF came to the forefront than at any other time in Alberta's history.

"No party but a labor party can hope for success in Canada," he said, adding that the CCF, after winning a total of 81 seats in various elections, compared to the 61 seats of all other parties, had a very good chance of becoming the dominant political party of Canada.

RESOURCES OF PEOPLE
James H. Dowler, CCF candidate for Edmonton, declared that the productive resources of the country should be given to the people and controlled by them.

"We must own the machines of our labor and then there would be no limit to what we could produce," he said. It was not a question of controlling industry, but who would control it, he added.

Clifford E. Lee, also a CCF candidate for Edmonton, said, "The Social Credit party is another Conservative or Liberal party."

"Win or lose tomorrow, it will be a big step forward for the CCF. If we win, the CCF in the next Dominion election will be a push-over," he said.

Ald. H. D. Ahlway, who also addressed the meeting, said that the Canadian people must not allow the federal government to say again that the people cannot have social security.

GIFTS OF MILLIONS
If that is allowed, after giving millions away as "gifts" to other people of other nations, "we deserve what we get," he said. The speaker stated that he had found "tremendous confusion" in

Permits for dwellings to be built in Edmonton issued for the week of July 29 to Aug. 8, had a total value of $57,500, indicating that more and more citizens are out to solve the housing situation in the best way possible. Swimming, Golf Revenue Increases

Revenues from city swimming pools and the municipal golf course are above last year for the period from opening dates to July 31, it was revealed by figures issued Tuesday at the Civic Block.

Total revenue from pools and the golf course for 1944 is $21,879 as compared to $19,962 for the similar period of last year.

Revenue from swimming pools this year totals $13,480 and from the golf course $8,398.

Last year swimming pool revenue was $12,649 and the golf course $7,313.

Increased enrolment at summer school this year is thought to be chiefly responsible for the swimming pools' increased use, and the fact more people are holidaying at home accounts for increased revenue from golf.

Swimming pools opened on May 13 and the golf course on April 5.

Australia Gratified That Canada To Make Great Effort in Pacific

Australians were extremely gratified to receive assurance that Canada will continue to put forth maximum energies into the struggle against Japan in the Pacific, even if the European struggle is successfully decided, first, G. Spencer Summers, Conservative member of the British Parliament for Northampton and prominent old country sheet steel manufacturer, said in an interview here Tuesday.

Mr. Summers is on his way back to Britain after a tour of Australia, New Zealand and New Guinea as a member of a group of 14 British and Canadian parliamentarians that spent several weeks in the South Pacific area recently.

The touring group included four Canadians and one member of the British House of Lords.

WILL NEVER FORGET

Australians will never forget that Canada was the first member of the British Commonwealth to declare war on Japan after Pearl Harbor, Mr. Summers said. The people of Australia are also very grateful to Canada for the hospitality they have shown toward the thousands of Australian airmen who trained here under the Commonwealth Air Training plan.

Mr. Summers spent five days in New Guinea and had this to say of the campaign there:

"The campaign in New Guinea is practically over, although there are still several thousand Japanese on the island. The Japs remaining there are isolated and blockaded.
"No supplies" can reach them by sea and they suffer much more from malaria than our men. They have also lost their air force in that area. They will simply starve and die of disease in the jungles. The natives are also very bitter against them and this adds to their plight."

A PREDICTION

Mr. Summers predicted that the next major move in the Pacific war will be an attack on the Philippines.

"That will probably be the hardest campaign in the Pacific war to

PERFORM MIRACLES

Industrial miracles were performed in Australia, thanks largely to the foresight and energy of Essington Lewis, director of Broken Hill Propriety Co., Ltd., mining and steel corporation. Lewis foresaw the war with Japan and had a fine aircraft industry established by Pearl Harbor.

Beaughtlers and Mosquitoes are made in Australia, as are torpedoes and guns for all their forces in the South Pacific.

Australia will experience a great development of secondary industry after the war and this will create new problems of trade, he said.

This is Mr. Summers' first visit to western Canada. His wife and family were in Ottawa for several months during the blitz of 1941.

He is leaving Edmonton by plane Monday night for Eastern Canada. He is staying at the Macdonald while in the city.

Seven New Cases Of 'Polio' Reported

Seven new cases of infantile paralysis were reported from Medicine Hat over the week-end, Dr. A. Somerville, provincial director of communicable diseases, announced Tuesday. One case, previously reported, infantile paralysis, turned out to be a minor ailment, making a total of 16 cases reported since June 23.

Twenty-one cases of the disease have been reported since Jan. 1. All have been from localities south of Red Deer.

The seven Medicine Hat cases broke out in the southern city during the last week.

The suspected case was reported last week from Didsbury, and was taken to a Calgary hospital, where diagnosis proved the disease was not the dread paralysis, according to newspaper reports.

Weather Forecast Slightly Warmer

The temperatures Monday were slightly lower than expected with the maximum reaching 69 degrees and the minimum 45 degrees. The estimated high today is 75 degrees and the overnight low 32 degrees.

A trace of rain fell Monday between 5:35 and 5:45 p.m.

The estimated low tonight is 45 degrees, the high tomorrow 74 degrees. The temperature at 2 p.m. was 70 degrees.

The weather forecast for Tuesday and Wednesday is "partly cloudy, scattered showers Wednesday afternoon, not much change in temperature."

Girl Is Injured By Flying Glass

Nora Hammermaster, 11325 67 St., received a slight cut on her forehead from flying glass, about 9:50 a.m. Monday, when the auto in which she was a passenger was struck by a truck said by city police to have been operated by Darrell Perkins, 11113 University avenue. Driver of the car was Fred Otto, of Ardrossan.

Perkins reported to officers that he was making a U-turn at the intersection of 104 street, south of 63 avenue and did not see the other vehicle.

Tar Has Expenses But Posts Wallet

August, Hertzog of Manola has his lost wallet back. He lost it, together with the contents, $90 in cash and a $93 cheque, last week. On Friday he heard from postal authorities that the wallet awaited him at the dead-letter office.

Mr. Hertzog picked up his property Tuesday morning, and upon opening it, found that $15 had been taken, with a note of explanation: "I took $15 for expenses so I can get home—Sailor." A postscript told of the promise to return the $15.

Owner of the wallet told police it had dropped through a hole in his pocket.

Announce Dates Hunting Season

According to game bird hunting season dates announced Tuesday, ducks and geese season north of the Athabasca river will be Sept. 4 to Nov. 25, and from Sept. 15 to Dec. 15 in the remainder of Alberta.

The season on Wilson's Snipe will be from Sept. 15 to Nov. 11 throughout the province.

The bag limits: Ducks, 20 in one day, of which not more than 10 shall be species other than mallards; geese, five in a day; coots and rails, 25 in a day; Wilson's or Jack Snipe, five in a day; not more than 150 ducks or more than 25 geese, or more than 100 rails and coots in the aggregate, or more than 100 Wilson's Snipe in one season. No one shall have in his possession at any time more than 60 ducks.

Shooting is prohibited earlier than an hour before sunrise or an hour after sunset. While there have been rumors that shotgun ammunition might be more easily obtainable this year, there has been no official indication that this would be the case.

Girl Guides Plan To Hold Day Camp

A day camp for the girls in North Edmonton will be conducted by the Girl Guides Association from Aug. 15 to 24, with Miss Betty Forster Martin as director.

The camp will be centred at St. Francis' hall, and the program, arranged for girls between the ages of 10 and 15 years, promises to be interesting. It includes games, swimming, handicrafts, and other activities.

Girls wishing to attend should apply immediately to Mrs. F. J. Pengelly, 12827 66 street, or to the Farmers' Supply store, 12804 Fort road, for registration forms.

First annual meeting of the Allied Arts Council will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. in South Side Library. The annual report will be available for discussion and adoption, and election of the second year's executive and conveners will take place.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Girls Should Beautify Disposition, It Pays

One Charm Transcends All; Girls Seeking Some Lure That Will Attract Men Have Never Found Out One Charm Transcends All

It is a strange thing that girls who are always seeking some lure that will attract men have never found out that there is one charm that transcends all other magic that is within their reach and that can be acquired by any one of them who is willing to put a little head work and heart work on it. Moreover, it is a charm that time cannot dim nor custom stale and that can make even a homely girl look better to a man than a living picture. And this wonder-working magic is just being pleasant.

Of course, the sophisticated modern maiden, who thinks she knows all the answers, will jeer at the suggestion that such a homely, old-fashioned virtue as being pleasant can attract men but that is where she is wrong. Men like to look at a pretty woman. They enjoy being entertained and amused by a brilliant one. But the thing that really gets them about a woman is for her to make them feel comfortable. They like being with a woman who doesn't keep them on their tip toes trying to placate her, who isn't always picking a quarrel or getting miffed about something but who is just easy to get along with.

Think this over girls and you will find the answer to a lot of mysteries you have never been able to solve. As, for instance, why does plain little Sally have so many dates and why are her dances always cut into ribbons at parties? It is because Sally is so pleasant that the boys like her and enjoy going with her. When a chap takes her out, he knows he is going to have a good time and come home pleased with himself and the world, instead of being sore at having wasted his money on a girl who made him feel like a piker.

You often wonder how the women who hold down top flight jobs get them. It is being pleasant more than any other talent that does it. Over-worked, over-strained business men have neither the time nor the inclination to deal with women who have their precious feelings spread all over the place, who burst into tears when their work is criticized and have tantrums if they think someone has infringed on their prerogative. So when an executive finds a girl who doesn't have to be handled with gloves, who is always cheerful and sane and reasonable and who knows how to get along without friction with other people, he grasps her to him with hooks of steel.

And you wonder at the spectacle you often see of husbands who are still desperately in love, after 50 years of marriage, with their ordinary appearing wives. The explanation is that the wives used the enchantment that never fails. They were pleasant to live with. That is the one infallible secret for holding a husband.

So, girls, take this tip: Spend as much time on beautifying your disposition as you do on beautifying your face. It will pay better dividends.

LEPROSY IS NOT AN INCURABLE DISEASE

There are many popular fallacies about leprosy. One is that it is highly contagious, another is that it always causes the flesh to rot away and produce ugly monstrousities and still another is that it is incurable—just a matter of waiting for death. The United States government Leprosarium at Carville, La., treats thousands of lepers and many are discharged yearly, cured. Lepers have been known to marry healthy mates and live with them, producing children, and neither the mate nor the children contracted the disease.

Expect Minister's Illness to Force His Resignation

REGINA, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Upon recovery from his present illness Major G. H. Williams, agriculture minister, will not be able to return to active politics, the Leader-Post has learned.

His illness, a serious one, will be bound to force his retirement from his cabinet post and may even involve resignation of his legislative seat.

Points for Parents

Mother: "I'm so glad you live near us, Grandfather, for you can do some of the things with Dick and Tom that their father used to do."

Mother: "Grandfather, I'm going to count on your helping me make these boys behave. Since their father is gone they're getting the best of me."

When father is in the armed forces, the real source of many disturbances is not lack of discipline but of masculine companionship.

SHOOTING STARS

(To be colored with paints or crayons. Whenever you come to a word spelled in CAPITAL letters use that color.)

"Come on!" cried BROWN-haired, PINK (use RED lightly) cheeked Teddy. He had on a TAN (use RED and BROWN mixed) hat and TAN boots, too. The boots had big YELLOW spurs on them. His blouse was light BLUE and he wore a RED handkerchief about his neck, cowboy style. His wrist guards had RED trimmings on them. His trousers were BLACK and white fur, and he had a long YELLOW lasso at his BROWN leather belt. His gun had a BROWN stock and a YELLOW barrel.

"Up in the sky, of course, August is open season for shooting-stars," said Teddy. "See that big YELLOW star? He's my mount, and I will shoot at all the little YELLOW stars. They will go chasing all over the dark BLUE sky and I'll go shooting after them and pop them with my little RED cork!"

"Oh, what fun, and I can watch you! There is such a nice place in the bow of the YELLOW new moon. Teddy-bear and I will sit there! I will wear my new LAVENDER (use PURPLE lightly) dress trimmed with bands of GREEN," cried Susie May joyously.

The border of the picture can be painted ORANGE color (use RED and YELLOW mixed), and the lettering bright RED.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

NATURE AND CAUSE OF ASTHMA

Asthma (pronounced azma) comes from a Greek word meaning short drawn breath or to breathe hard. In popular language any difficult breathing is commonly called asthma or asthmatic, but physicians apply the term dyspnea to the short-windedness of heart disease and some cases of kidney disease and some cases of anemia. Retarding asthma to the condition characterized by periodic attacks or spells of wheezing labored breathing in which the patient's evident distress is chiefly expiratory—that is, lungs and chest are expanded, in fact overfilled with air, but during the seizure or attack, which lasts from a few minutes to several hours, the patient is unable to expire freely, to exhale, to let air out of lungs and chest.

Physicians call true asthma spasmodic bronchial asthma. Formerly spasmodic asthma, which occurs in periodic or irregular attacks or seizures and in the interval between attacks, presents no sign or symptom by which the patient's ailment may be recognized, was classified as a "neurosis," a "neurosis" being any "functional nervous disease" which is dependent upon no evident lesion. Epilepsy, for instance, or migraine, which latter has been called a "sensory equivalent" to the motor neurosis epilepsy.

A great many individuals who have chronic bronchitis (winter cough of the aged), or emphysema (ballooning or permanent overfilling or expansion or stretching of air cells in the lungs), or bronchiectasis (ballooning or dilatation of portions of the bronchial tubes), have more or less wheezy shortness of breath all the time, especially on exertion, and too often these conditions, in elderly or in young persons, are neglected or "wrongly treated as 'asthma'." They are no more asthmatic than is the hard breathing caused by running to catch a train.

Keep in mind the chief feature of asthma—the overfilling of chest and the difficulty in letting air out of the chest. Remember that contraction of the main breathing muscle (diaphragm) draws air into the chest or lungs and relaxation of the diaphragm permits the air to go out of chest or lungs (it does not forcibly expel the air, just lets it out).

Frankly we don't know what causes true spasmodic bronchial asthma, nor why certain individuals have it. A theory which many physicians accept as explanation for it least some cases is that it is a manifestation of allergy—allergy sensitivity to some simple substance which, in other persons with allergic sensitivity, may cause, say, hives, eczema, hyperesthetic rhinitis (machine gun sneezing, profuse sudden watery running at nose which ceases as suddenly) or perhaps symptoms ascribed to "sinus trouble." We can't go further into the discussion of allergy here—if you send a stamped self-addressed envelope and ask for it I'll mail you a pamphlet "Relief for Allergy."

(Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letters should be brief, and written in ink. No reply can be made to queries not conforming to instructions. Address Dr. William Brady, 265 El Camino South, Beverly Hills, Calif.)

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDER

To take care of any baby involves work and worry but the handling and feeding of a tiny premature is so particular a job that one rejoices to hear of it accomplished so successfully.

Mrs. W. E. S. writes that her baby, born at 8 1/2 months, weighed only two pounds and measured only 13 1/2 inches. "The doctor thought there was no hope of saving him. He was wrapped in cotton and wool in a basket with hot-water bottles around him and fed a few drops of breast milk, by an eye dropper, every hour or two.

"We took him home when he was five weeks old and he weighed two pounds and seven and one half ounces. We put him in an incubator with electric lights and I took care of him myself. As this was my first child it was quite an experience for me.

"I pumped the breast milk and fed him that way for three months, as he was weak to nurse. I gave him olive oil baths and sewed flannel shirts for him to wear and sewed cotton batting on material to feed around him. I wish you could have seen the tiny diapers I made!

"We took him out of the incubator at 4 1/2 months and he weighed seven pounds, four ounces and measured 21 inches. We began feeding him a baby cereal, orange juice and milk formula.

"At five months he had strained vegetables and at six months he weighed nine pounds.

"He sat in his high chair at 8 1/2 months, walked around chairs at 13 months and all alone at 18 months. His first tooth appeared at 18 months and at one year he weighed 15 pounds and measured 27 inches.

"Now he is three years old, he weighs 36 pounds and measures 38 1/2 inches.

"He has never had a serious illness. He has always been active and full of life. He never has fussed much. His teeth are good and sound and he has liked eating all fruits and most vegetables. I have never given him a laxative. I am especially interested in other premature babies and how they progress."

How interesting and remarkable this is. It should hearten other mothers, whose children's development seems so painfully slow, to be assured that eventually the wee baby creeps up to the child of average weight at birth and is indistinguishable from him. By five years, no doubt, no one will ever be able to tell that your baby was once this frail breath of life.

Our leaflet, "The First Six Weeks," contains a discussion of the premature and its home care. It may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Myrtle Meyer Elder, in care of this newspaper.

Conspiracy Counts Won't Be Pursued

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Conspiracy charges against 12 members of the "Fundamentalists" cult will not be pursued further, assistant U.S. district attorney John S. Boyden said yesterday. Indictments against the 12, including most of the cult's leaders, charged conspiracy to mail obscene literature allegedly contained in the magazine "Truth," published by the group which practices polygamy as a religious principle. The indictments were quashed by federal judge Foster J. Symes of Denver.

Make your own "Sunday special" marmalade now from cultivated blueberries. Your winter muffins will be enhanced.

BLUEBERRY MARMALADE
(8 glasses—fluid ounces each)
Three cups cultivated blueberries (prepared), 1 medium orange, 1 medium lemon, 5 cups sugar, 1 bottle fruit pectin.

To prepare blueberries, crush thoroughly about 1 pound fully ripe cultivated blueberries. Remove skins in quarters from orange and lemon. Lay quarters flat; shave off and discard about half of white keeping fruits cold. Bananas are best kept at warmer temperatures than other fruits. Let under-ripe bananas mature at room temperature—do not put them in the refrigerator. To keep summer berries, cherries and grapes in tip-top condition, store them spread out in a shallow tray in a cold place. Do not wash them until just before you are ready to use them. Spread out peaches, pears and plums to prevent them from bruising.

part. With a very sharp knife, cut remaining rind into fine shreds. Add 1/4 cup water and 1/4 teaspoon soda, bring to a boil and simmer, covered, 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cut off tight skin of peeled fruit and slip pulp out of each section. Add pulp and juice to cooked rind and simmer, covered, 15 minutes longer. Combine with blueberries.

Measure sugar and prepared blueberries, solidly packed, into large kettle, flooding each cup with juice, or if necessary, with water. Bring to a boil and boil gently 5 minutes. Remove from fire and stir in bottled fruit pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for just 5 minutes to cool slightly to prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly. Paraffin hot marmalade at once.

The problem with most fruits is to use them before they become over-ripe. Cool temperatures hold down the action of the enzymes that cause fruits to go on ripening, past their prime. Bananas are the one exception to the rule about

I have read several books on the play of the hand, and each has its good qualities; but the first and most important lesson for the beginner to learn is to count his tricks. He need not bother about—squeeze plays and end plays—they will come automatically.

In a large tournament pair after pair made only five hearts, yet the play for six is very simple. West wins the opening diamond lead and continues with a diamond, which dummy should ruff with the three-spot. Now North should count his tricks. He can win five club tricks, the ace of spades, and he has ruffed a diamond. He can ruff another diamond, and he should cash four heart tricks, which would give him 12. Thus there is no need to take the spade finesse.

Having counted his tricks, he goes over to the queen of clubs, ruffs another diamond, cashes the king and queen of hearts and ace of spades, picks up the trump and cashes his five club tricks.

A pioneer resident of this district, Andrew O. Bergeson, died in Edmonton on July 27. He was 75 years old. In 1907 he came to Alberta from Iowa and homesteaded at Gadsby, later moving to the town where he operated a hardware store. Then he and his wife moved to Lio where he managed a general store. In 1925 he moved to Stettler where his wife died in 1941. Two years ago he went to live in Edmonton.

With Those In Uniform

JASPER.—Charles Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson, has arrived home after being honorably discharged from the Canadian Army. He was wounded in the elbow while on active service overseas. James Brady, Sr., of the RCAF, was a recent visitor to his home here.

MILLET.—LAC, Robert Gibling, RCAF, has just received his discharge after four years' service, and spent a few days here with his family before going to British Columbia, where he will be employed by the Dominion government in the Sandos Indian hospital, three miles from Chilliwack. Pte. A. Radis, stationed at the east coast, is spending leave with his family. Mrs. George Reading has received word that her son, Pte. Frank Reading, is serving in England. One son has been serving there with the RCAF for some time. Another is stationed in Ontario.

FERINTOSH.—Verie Olson, who has been a member of the Canadian Army in England for the last two years, is home with an honorable discharge because he is needed at home to keep his father's farm producing at maximum. Verie's brother, Lawrence Olson, is overseas in the Wesley Olson, is a member of the Canadian forces in Italy. Elmer Campbell, gunner in the Canadian forces in France, who was officially reported injured in action, is well again and in service in France.

The municipal gravel pit at Sims' corner near Ferintosh is the source of supply for gravelling a 10-mile stretch of the highway between Wetaskiwin and Stettler in the Malmo district ten miles west of Ferintosh. The long haul over a dirt road necessitates gravelling of long existing mud holes and seeping. That is now being done as preliminary by the big trucks carrying five cubic yards of gravel each.

Servicing ground personnel for the first Canadian Fighter Unit to move into an airstrip in France were flown in by Dakota aircraft of the Transport Command, manned by mixed Royal Canadian Air Force and R.A.F. crews. Spitfires escorted the flight from England, across the channel to an airstrip in Normandy from which R.C.A.F. fighter squadrons have been operating since June 10th. This fully operational unit is under the command of Wing

Commander M. Brown of Winnipeg, Manitoba. The fighter squadrons are the Wolf Squadron, the City of Oshawa Squadron and the Red Indian Squadron. Impassable Roads Stop Spudding in Of E.P. Oil Well

CALGARY, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Impassable roads caused by heavy rains are holding up spudding of the first oil well to be drilled on the Duke of Windsor's E.P. ranch, west of High River.

"We have the equipment on the location but we can't get through to start operations," C. S. Snyder, drilling contractor, said. "If the weather clears up sufficiently to allow the roads to dry we may get started this week. Otherwise we may not be able to spud until next week."

Schools Crowded At Pouce Coupe

POUCE COUPE.—Accommodation at the Dawson Creek schools will be taxed to the utmost when school opens for the fall term on Sept. 5, owing to the large influx of residents to this hub of the Alaska Highway. Attempt is being made to obtain the use of the U.S.E.D. Administration building, for at least four or five years. Request has been wired by the director of education here, F. A. McClellan, and Glen E. Braden, MLA for this district.

The hospital women's auxiliary held a successful supper in the Anglican church basement with a large crowd attending. Proceeds were in aid of the building fund. Plans were to hold the supper at the Pouce Coupe River Park, but weather conditions made it impossible.

The supper was convened by Mrs. Clarkson, president of the W.A. and others assisting included Mrs. A. Austin, Mrs. Raybone, Mrs. Crack, Mrs. Fynn, Mrs. Spangler, Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Hollies.

Blackout Cities

ANKARA, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Ankara, Istanbul, Izmir and other major points in Turkey within bombing range from German bases in Bulgaria, Greece and Romania, went under a complete regular blackout last night, as throughout Turkey preparations were being made to put the country on a semi-war footing. Large groups of German nationals left Ankara in mid-afternoon for Istanbul en route to Germany.

When we declared war on Nazi barbarism...

we engaged in a life and death struggle...

that demands the utmost use of all our resources.

NO ONE KNOWS HOW LONG THE WAR WILL LAST...

With an uncontrolled rise in prices...

with an uncontrolled rise in wages and salaries with an uncontrolled rise in costs...

SUCH CONFUSION WOULD RESULT THAT...

Industry could not keep organized for full production...

Industry—business—farmers—labor and consumers would be involved in an endless quarrel about prices...

war plans could not be carried through

RESPONSIBILITY RISES ON EACH OF US...

The threat of inflation will be with us as long as the war lasts.

When any one of us attempts to use war conditions for personal, selfish purposes...

we throw a monkey wrench into the machinery that is back of our boys overseas.

IN MEMORIAM
In Loving Memory of Mrs. Frances Shaw, who passed away August 8, 1940.
As I gaze on your picture that hangs on the wall,
Your smiles and your welcome I often recall.
I miss you and mourn you in silence unseen,
And in my memories of days that have been,
Dear is the grave where Mother is laid,
Sweet is the memory that never will fade,
Flowers may wither, leaves fade and die,
If some day I forget you, never will I.
—Ever remembered by her loving husband, Mae Irven and Frances.

Real Estate
In Loving Memory of Robert Clinton, who passed away August 8th, 1942.
The rolling stream of life goes on,
But still the vacant chair,
Recalls the voice, the voice, the smile,
Of who once sat there.
—Sadly missed by Mother, Dad, Helen and Grace.

80 Boys Return From Summer Camp

Eighty boys, accompanied by their leaders, arrived in the city Tuesday evening after spending a week at the fresh air camp of All People's Mission at Moonlight Bay, Lake Wabamun. This outing was preceded by the camp for girls, and is now being followed by one for mothers and small children.

Held on the Mission campus, these fresh air camps are part of All People's Mission program, serving the city regardless of race, creed or color.

The camp was directed by Douglas Carr, assisted by Roy Saito, Gerry Larue, Jim Speakman, John Gilmour, W. E. Curly, "Red" Martin, W. Best, L. Morgan, Pete Shurko, Mrs. Marguerite Stewart and Miss Winnie Kinch. The Rev. J. T. Stephens supervised.

Organized similar to the North American Indians, each tribe elected its chief and carried its Indian name. The boys were divided into three groups for hotelling, Roy Saito instructing in knot-tying, Gerry Larue in carpentry and Douglas Carr in totipot poles, Bible study, which included the life and works of Paul was given under Gerry Larue, Douglas Carr and Mr. Stephens. In addition, the program included softball, volleyball, treasure hunts, camp fires, fishing, boating and swimming, the latter being under the supervision of Roy Saito. Morning chapel was conducted by Mr. Stephens.

George Bacon was unanimously voted the "Best All Round camper" while brother Robert led his tribe to top honors.

Before the Magistrate

Alexander Morgan, who pleaded guilty to four counts of theft at Wainwright, when he appeared before Magistrate A. I. Millar, K.C., Tuesday morning, denied he was trying to get out of the armed forces. It did not matter, one way or the other, to him, he said. He was fined $5 or 10 days on each charge, with terms to run consecutively.

Angus McLellan pleaded guilty to four charges against him by city police, and had his case remanded until Aug. 14.

Pleas of guilty were entered to charges of being in possession of a registration certificate not his own, having a certificate of discharge from the armed forces which had not been issued to him, unlawfully having in his possession a pistol, breaking, entering and theft from the offices of the Western Construction Company in Edmonton. A fifth charge, of committing an offence while armed, was withdrawn.

A few "old-timers" were present, namely, William Smith, John McDonald, George Ryan and William Nelson. Smith was sentenced to four months. John McDonald, found in the same place as Smith, was fined $50 or two months. Ryan had a relative on a Saskatchewan farm, where he could and would go if given a chance. He was fined $40 or two months at the Fort Saskatchewan jail farm. Nelson was fined a similar amount.
